ANOINTING OF THE SICK

The Catechism of the Catholic Church (#1514-1515) teaches that this sacrament is not only for those at the point of death, but for anyone seriously ill or facing serious surgery. In fact, it is preferred that parishioners entering the hospital for surgery should ask the priest for this sacrament before being admitted. Parishioners should never wait until the last minute to call. We encourage parishioners facing surgery to let the parish priest know of their condition before entering the hospital so that they can be anointed before admission.

Shepherd's Corner

I am the good shepherd, and I know mine and mine know me

As I wrote in last week's column, the friars will be off to Pennsylvania for our yearly gathering. Our gathering begins on Monday and, with limited flights into Pittsburgh, we needed to leave on Sunday morning to make the drive to our motherhouse in the Allegheny Mountains. Many thanks to Fr. Pepe Ruiz, S.J. for helping us with Masses this week so we wouldn't be tardy.

Did you ever watch a movie and find yourself talking to the actors, telling them something like, "I wouldn't go in that attic if I were you...No, no, no, don't do it..." But the actor fails to take your advice. They start to slowly open the door and begin to climb the stairs while you slowly shake your head (or cover your eyes). That would have been similar to what the people would have done when hearing Jesus tell them the parable of the Good Samaritan.

A parable is a simple story used to teach a moral lesson, which usually consists of relatable characters or situations the people would quickly grasp. But scholars tell us when Jesus speaks in parables, there is something else he adds: a surprise ending, one the people wouldn't see coming and would make them think or reflect on the outcome.

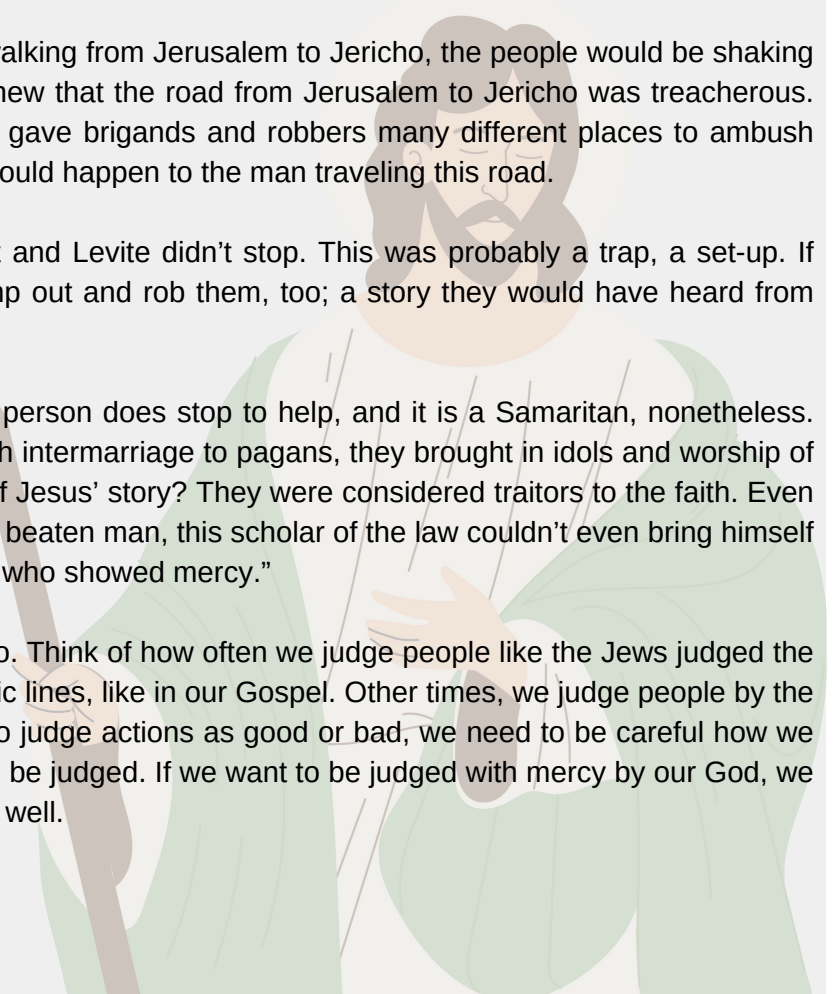

In our parable today, when they heard of a man walking from Jerusalem to Jericho, the people would be shaking their heads and saying "NO! Don't do it." They knew that the road from Jerusalem to Jericho was treacherous. There were a lot of turns in the hilly road, which gave brigands and robbers many different places to ambush travelers. The people would have foreseen what could happen to the man traveling this road.

They would also have understood why the priest and Levite didn't stop. This was probably a trap, a set-up. If they stopped to help, thieves would probably jump out and rob them, too; a story they would have heard from friends and family many times before.

But then, Jesus throws in the surprise ending. A person does stop to help, and it is a Samaritan, nonetheless. Samaritans were once considered Jewish, but with intermarriage to pagans, they brought in idols and worship of other gods. How could one of these be the hero of Jesus' story? They were considered traitors to the faith. Even when Jesus asked which one was neighbor to the beaten man, this scholar of the law couldn't even bring himself to say, "the Samaritan." Instead, he says "the one who showed mercy."

Do you see this parable enacted in our times? I do. Think of how often we judge people like the Jews judged the Samaritans. Sometimes, it's along racial and ethnic lines, like in our Gospel. Other times, we judge people by the actions they commit or omit. While it can be OK to judge actions as good or bad, we need to be careful how we judge people. Jesus tells us as you judge, you will be judged. If we want to be judged with mercy by our God, we need to make sure we judge others with mercy as well.

Peace and Blessings,
Fr. Mike

SUPER-SIZED GARAGE SALE

THANK YOU!

We are overflowing with gratitude for the incredible outpouring of support that made this year's Garage Sale such a remarkable success. From the earliest planning stages back in October 2024 to the final cleanup of the Parish Hall on June 28, this event was a true labor of love—and it couldn't have happened without each and every one of you.

To our amazing volunteers: thank you! Your time, energy, and dedication were the heartbeat of this event. It was truly inspiring to see our volunteers come together in such a spirit of service and fellowship to support our communities. Your efforts not only raised funds but also directly helped individuals and families in need.

To all who donated: your generosity filled our sale with treasures of every kind. Your contributions made a real difference.

This event was a beautiful example of what we can accomplish when we come together in service and love.

With heartfelt appreciation,

Arrangements will be of seasonal flowers only, no exotics, and are ordered by the Art & Environment committee only.
