A Sermon Series on 1 John

ASSURANCE

The Children of God

1 John 2:29-3:10

Stuart McCray, Associate Pastor

July 9, 2023

In view of the themes of progeny and practice found in 1 John 2:29 and 3:10, in 1 John 3:1-9, John gives God's children 2 exhortations to live out together to give evidence of the genuineness of our faith.

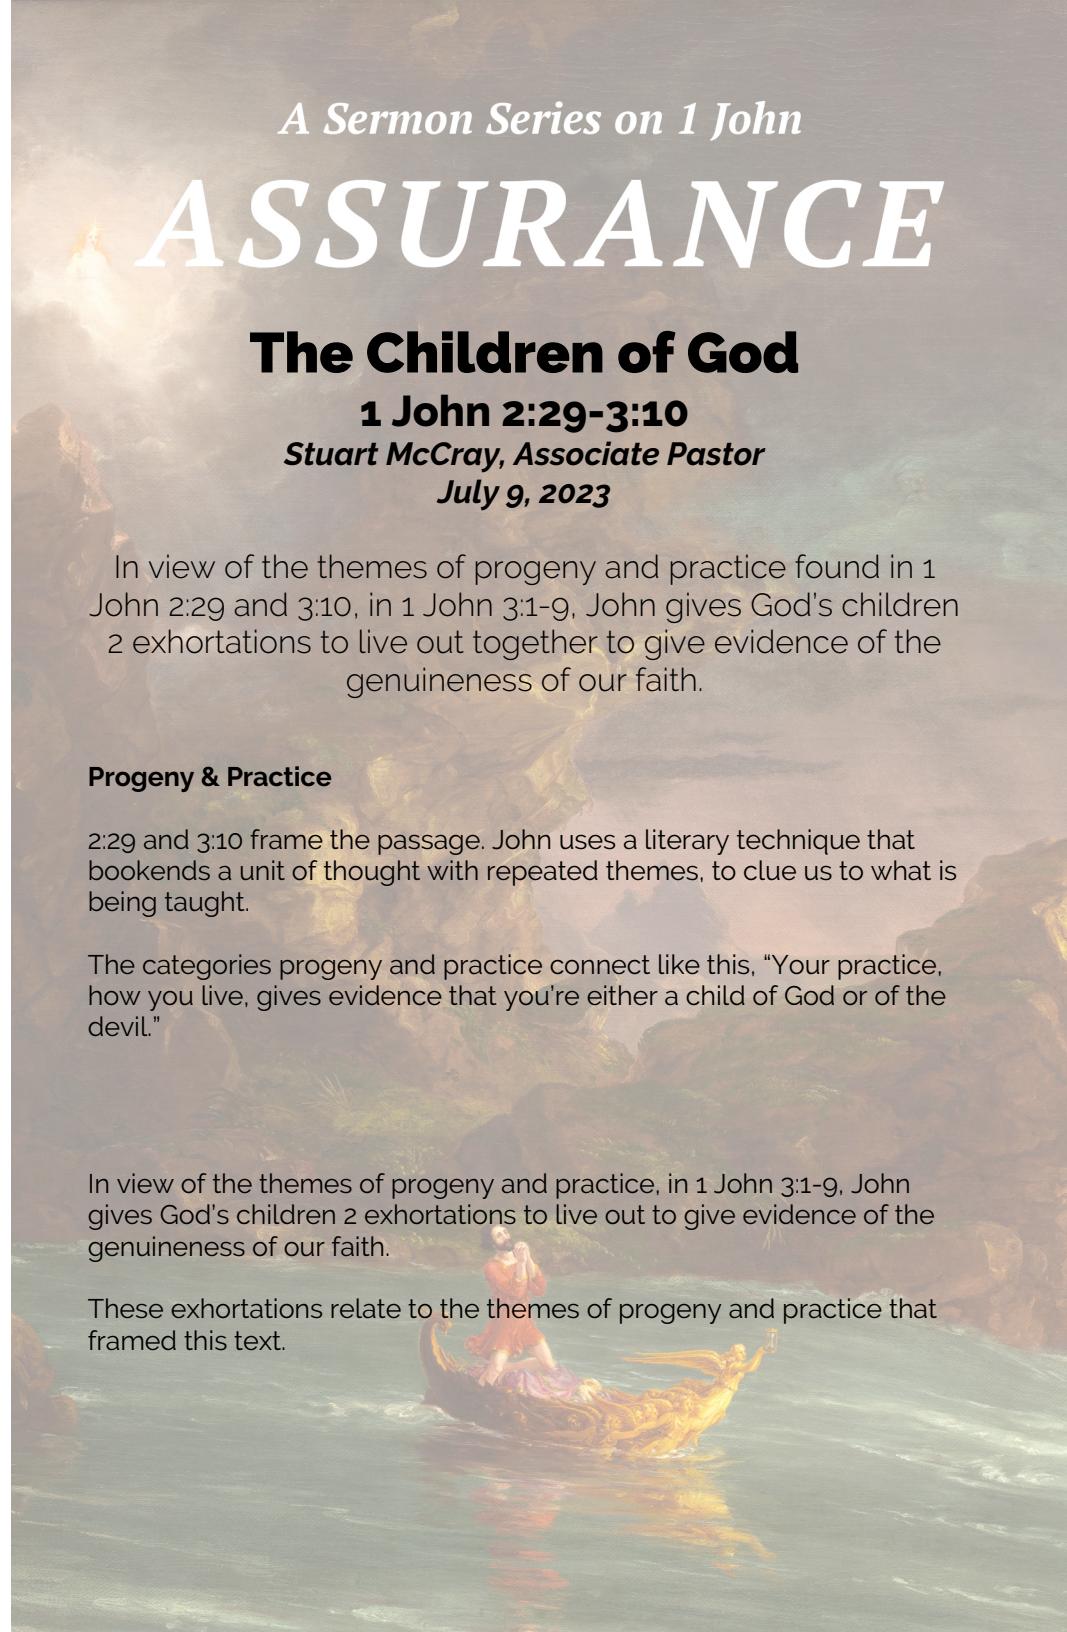

Progeny & Practice

2:29 and 3:10 frame the passage. John uses a literary technique that bookends a unit of thought with repeated themes, to clue us to what is being taught.

The categories progeny and practice connect like this, "Your practice, how you live, gives evidence that you're either a child of God or of the devil."

In view of the themes of progeny and practice, in 1 John 3:1-9, John gives God's children 2 exhortations to live out to give evidence of the genuineness of our faith.

These exhortations relate to the themes of progeny and practice that framed this text.

1. Be amazed by our Father's regenerating-love for us. (vv.1-3)

The exhortation is in verse 1, "See what kind of love the Father has given to us..." .

Two Results for being a child of God.

- 1. Verse 2: God's children are promised, they will be in the end (either when Christ returns or when they go home to be the Lord) transformed into God's perfect family image, Jesus Christ.
- 2. Verse 3: God's children have purifying-power in the confident-hope of Christ's return to pursue purity now.

Argument One: The Nature of Sin (3:4)

Argument Two: Abiding with Christ (3:6 & 9)

Argument Three: Christ Purposefully Appeared (3:5 & 8b)

2. Resist the deception, how we live doesn't matter. (vv.4-9)

The exhortation is in verse 7, "let no one deceive you".

"Practice"

To make a practice something is to do it willfully and habitually. John isn't referring to occasional acts but to a dedicated lifestyle.

In the surrounding verses (4, 5, 6, the second half of 8, and verse 9), John argues that what you do does matter.
