the letter opening: Foundational ideas

1. Paul
2. The gospel
3. You

Paul,

↳ a servant of Christ Jesus, ^①

↳ called to be an apostle, ^②

↳ set apart for the gospel of God, ^③

which he promised beforehand through his prophets in the holy Scriptures, concerning his Son,

↳ who was descended from David according to the flesh

and was declared to be the Son of God

in power

according to the Spirit of holiness by his resurrection from the dead,

↳ Jesus Christ our Lord,

through whom we have received

① grace and ② apostleship

Why? ↳ to bring about the obedience of faith

↳ for the sake of his name among all the nations, gentiles Jew

including you

who are called to belong to Jesus Christ,

① To all those in Rome

↳ ② who are loved by God

↳ ③ and called to be saints:

Grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

Two Key Questions for contemplation from Romans 1:1-7

- To what extent is your recounting of the Gospel the same as what Paul does here in Romans?
 - That is, when you retell the Gospel to others, do you center it on God, glorifying and praising Him?

David Peterson:

“The Letter to the Romans focuses on the fulfillment of God’s promises in the person of His son, the victorious Messiah, who calls people everywhere to acknowledge Him with the obedience of faith and experience the grace and peace he has to offer.”

Two Key Questions for contemplation from 1:1-7

- To what extent is your recounting of the Gospel the same as Romans?
 - That is, when you retell the Gospel to others, do you center it on God, Father, Son and Holy Spirit?
- How do you describe yourself, first and foremost?
 - That is, if you are a believer, do you see yourself as loved by God, called to be set apart as God's child?
