Summer in The Psalms - Psalm 63

Desire Through the Storm

Speaker: Charlie Cazin

- What actually has the _____ of my life?
- What you _____ for will eventually shape what you _____ for.
- God's presence isn't confined to a _____, so our pursuit of Him shouldn't be confined to _____.

Praise in the Storm

- David doesn't just believe God can _____ his life. He believes God is _____ than the life he's trying to save.
- Sometimes changing the posture of our _____ helps change the posture of our _____.
- There is a deep satisfaction that comes when we stop trying to fill _____ with everything else and _____ ourselves to pursuing God.
- The things that keep us _____ are often the things God is asking us to hand over.

Help in the Storm

- The question isn't whether you'll _____ for something in the _____. It's what you'll reach for.
- Be careful what you _____ to in the storm, because not everything you can _____ onto can hold you up.

Jocelynnne Bong: Jocelynnne is in Brazil. 1. Last week I was sick and the sun has been getting to me. Prayers for a quick recovery. Prayers the boat engine will be fixed so they can steer it from the steering wheel. For the next camp coming up. We have about 160 people coming. And on the 22nd of August I'll be teaching my lifeguard class so prayers that it will go well

Confidence in the Storm

- His circumstances are still _____, but his confidence isn't.
- The storm doesn't necessarily _____ but we're no longer facing it alone.

Questions

- What are the typical places you “horizontally” run to in order to find satisfaction and quench your spiritual thirst?
- In what ways have these horizontal areas let you down?
- Why do you think you keep running to the wrong places to satisfy your spiritual thirst even though they let you down over and over again?
- Why is the Lord the only one who can truly refresh you and quench your thirst?
- What kind of practice or accountability can you set up in your life to remind you that you should only search for fulfillment in God, not other horizontal sources?
- What would it look like to start pursuing God as if you truly loved him?
