Now read Genesis 3:1-20

God clearly established man as the leader, yet when the serpent decided to tempt, he went to the woman. Why do you suppose he did that?

Where was the man when the serpent was speaking to the woman?

According to verse 9, which person did God first call into account for their sin?

How does verse 17 further expound on this?

God said, "Because YOU have listened to the voice of your wife, and have eaten from the tree about which I commanded YOU," . . .

What is God telling the man?

This passage is clearly a reminder to all of us that ever since Adam, men will stand by and let the women lead.

They will listen to women.

The question for us becomes - are we going to encourage our men to be the leaders God intended for them to be or are we going to take over?

Are we going to learn our role and live it out or are we going to listen to the chatter of the culture around us?

Where are we going to take our cues?
