If you pursue a Pre-Nursing degree, you will be able to:

- Write and speak confidently about integrating faith and biology and your knowledge of contemporary biomedical and environmental issues, including their ethical implications.
- Demonstrate your theoretical and practical mastery of biology and health-related sub-disciplines.
- Display familiarity with and mastery of the scientific method and primary scientific literature.
- Employ critical thinking, formulate practical research questions, appropriately gather and analyze data, and interpret results.

CARING FOR OTHERS WHILE INTEGRATING CHRISTIAN FAITH.

Helping others is part of who you are—and the healthcare field is where you want to provide that help. The Pre-Nursing program at SWU will provide you with everything you need, including a strong foundation in science skills and the tools to become an effective communicator who integrates your Christian faith into everything you do.

The Pre-Nursing program is part of a partnership with Indiana Wesleyan University. You'll spend three years here at SWU, complete your clinical nursing courses at IWU, and graduate with both a BS in Pre-Nursing from SWU and a BSN from IWU. The Pre-Nursing program reflects SWU's commitment to providing excellent preparation for continuing education in the field of nursing, and you'll benefit from personalized mentoring with caring faculty.
