HELP STUDENTS REACH THEIR UNIQUE POTENTIAL.

Special needs students and individuals with exceptionalities need teachers who recognize their potential and support their learning. In SWU's Special Education program, you'll learn best practices for teaching individuals with disabilities in a K-12 setting.

Our highly trained faculty have diverse, real-world experiences in special education grounded in a Christian ethic of care—and by the time you graduate, so will you. Part of our program includes field experiences and activities in real schools and classroom settings that will familiarize you with inclusion, resource, and self-contained special education programs.
