Romans 11–16:
Doxological Discipleship
Stuart Balmer
Sanctuary

Having expounded the riches of the gospel in Romans 1–11, Paul spends the remainder of the book calling believers to live in light of God's mercies--offering themselves in worship, loving one another, pursuing holiness, and advancing Christ's kingdom for the glory of God. The true worship of God (doxology) always results in active obedience (discipleship).

Important Topics in Parenting
Various Leaders
Room 107

Rather than focusing on one theme or one age group, this class will examine several fundamental questions that parents ask frequently as their children move through life. How can we faithfully conduct family devotions? How do we communicate effectively with our children at different ages? What schooling choices work best for our family? How do we guide our children through the college process? How do we best affirm and encourage our children? How do we handle conflict with our children? May the Lord bless our discussions!

November 8 to December 13

Parables II
Jason Clement
Sanctuary

Mark 4:34 tells us that Jesus "did not speak to them without a parable, but privately to his own disciples he explained everything." The parables of Jesus tell us much about the Kingdom of God and give us powerful images of kingdom values and man's responsibilities to both God and neighbor. In this second of two classes, we will examine the various types of parables, how parables are interpreted, and how their messages apply to us. Join us as we seek to grow in our understanding of the Kingdom of God through the parables of Jesus.

Examining Christian Traditions
Juan Estevez
Room 107

Have you ever wondered about other Christian traditions? Have you ever asked yourself: Why do Eastern Orthodox churches look the way they do? Why does the Roman Catholic Church have a pope? And what about Anglicans—whose side are they on? If so, join us as we explore these Christian traditions, note their key characteristics and differences, and evaluate them from a Reformed Presbyterian perspective.

January 3 to February 21

Genesis 1–4: Adam's Family
Stephen Kim
Sanctuary

"I have set before you life and death, blessing and curse. Therefore choose life," says Moses (Dt 30:19). All who want to find the way that leads to life are invited to this class. The teaching of Moses about the way of life begins with the creation of the universe and humans. This class will focus on Gen 1-4 to deepen our understanding of the message of the given text in the broader biblical context. In this class we will explore the topics of Creation, Adam, Eve, Good and Evil, Sin and Misery, and Grace. We will also learn what it means to choose life from the story of Adam's family.

Prayer, Fasting, & Meditation
Various Leaders
Room 107

As Christians, the Lord uses our unique circumstances to bring about our sanctification, to teach us about Himself, and to remind us that no part of our lives is outside of His gracious presence. In walking these paths, we often long for a deeper communion with God, or from our perspective, we long to speed up the process of sanctification. While our spiritual growth isn't mechanical, Scripture talks frequently about three particular tools (prayer, fasting, and meditation on Scripture) that are often key elements of our growth in discipleship. This class will examine these three practices and learn together about how the Lord draws us to Himself.
