

“The Future of Work” - January 18, 2026

Sermon by Pastor Tim Ghali

Group Leader Notes

Artificial Intelligence is transforming the workplace faster than any innovation in recent history. Jobs are changing. Technology is accelerating. Anxiety and excitement live side by side. So how should followers of Jesus respond? In this message, Pastor Tim Ghali explores the future of work through the lens of Scripture, connecting today’s AI revolution with the ancient story of the Tower of Babel. Rather than rejecting technology or placing our trust in it, this sermon invites us to rediscover God’s calling for our work—and our humanity. In this message you’ll hear: Why new innovations often tempt us to replace trust in God What the Tower of Babel teaches us about technology and pride How AI can be a tool without becoming an idol Why work remains deeply human, spiritual, and formative How God’s mercy continues to call us forward—even after failure As technology evolves, one thing remains true: you are not replaceable, and God has a future for you and your work.

Main Scripture Reading: Genesis 11:1-9

Group Discussion

Begin in prayer before reading and discussing the text.

- Trust & Technology: In what ways can modern technology (like AI) become a “Tower of Babel” in our own lives—something we rely on for security, identity, or control instead of trusting God? Where do you see this tension personally or culturally?
- Calling & Work: Pastor Tim emphasizes that all work—paid or unpaid—is a calling from God. How does this view challenge or reshape the way you see your daily work, responsibilities, or season of life right now?
- Remaining Human: As work becomes more automated and efficient, what practices help you protect your humanity and reflect the image of God in how you work, create, communicate, and treat others?
