PERSEVERING TOGETHER, TODAY | OCTOBER 25, 2026

SERMON RECAP

Belief is active. We drift into unbelief when we go it alone. We must persevere together, every day, encouraging each other as we wait for God's rest.

THE LEAD IN

- Over the course of your life, what community or group of friends have you found the most joy and satisfaction in? What made it so good?

GETTING INTO THE TEXT

- Read Hebrews 3:7-19 and Numbers 4:1-4. The Wilderness Generation saw God do amazing things and they still hardened their hearts against Him. What pulled their focus off God? What did their unbelief cost them?
- Consider Hebrews 10:24-15 and James 5:19-20. What role do believers play in persevering with each other?

GOING DEEPER

- Of the 168 hours in a week, if your Christian community is confined to 2 hours on a Sunday morning, you've opened 166 hours for potential drift. Who are the believers in your Oikos who you can do life with every day? Do priorities need to shift to allow this?
- Shame is one of Satan's favorite tools to keep us isolated. Sharing in Christ is done together and in the light of His freedom. What holds you back? How can you walk in the light today, joyfully anticipating the blessings to come?
- We're told to encourage one another daily. Let's do that! Spend some time encouraging each other in your walk with the Lord as you battle sin's deceitfulness.

PRAYER

- Pray for each other that your hearts wouldn't be hardened and drift. Pray for courage to be known and for resolve to walk daily together.
