

Undeserving People

10/18/26

_____ does not mean the _____ never happened

What happens when God wants to show _____ to people we do not _____ ?

Jonah 1: ____ - ____ , 4: ____

Scripture does not ask us to call _____ .

Can God take _____ seriously and still want the people _____ to turn _____ .

Mark 2: ____

Are we willing to _____ at the _____ as people who _____ Jesus, or are we _____ outside deciding who _____ there?

Ephesians 2: ____ - ____

Name 1: _____

Name 2: _____

Undeserving People

10/18/26

_____ does not mean the _____ never happened

What happens when God wants to show _____ to
people we do not _____ ?

Jonah 1: ____ - ____ , 4: ____

Scripture does not ask us to call _____ .

Can God take _____ seriously and still want the people _____ to turn _____ .

Mark 2: ____

Are we willing to _____ at the _____ as people who _____ Jesus, or are we _____ outside deciding who _____ there?

Ephesians 2: ____ - ____

Name 1: _____

Name 2: _____

NOTES:

Reflection during the week...

1. Where might I be going in the opposite direction from what God has asked of me? Have I been busy making plans while avoiding a conversation, decision, or step of obedience? What would it look like to turn toward God this week?

2. Whose need for grace is difficult for me to accept? Has someone's wrongdoing made me hope they will face consequences but never receive another chance? Can I name the harm honestly while leaving room for God to call them to repentance?

3. Have I decided that God's grace is for other people but not for me? Is there something in my past that I still believe puts me beyond His reach? What would it mean to come to Jesus honestly instead of trying to make myself worthy first?

4. How am I responding to the grace God has shown me in Jesus? Am I trusting Him, or only thinking about taking that step someday? If I have chosen to follow Him, what might it look like to profess my faith openly and live it out this week?

NOTES:

Reflection during the week...

1. Where might I be going in the opposite direction from what God has asked of me? Have I been busy making plans while avoiding a conversation, decision, or step of obedience? What would it look like to turn toward God this week?

2. Whose need for grace is difficult for me to accept? Has someone's wrongdoing made me hope they will face consequences but never receive another chance? Can I name the harm honestly while leaving room for God to call them to repentance?

3. Have I decided that God's grace is for other people but not for me? Is there something in my past that I still believe puts me beyond His reach? What would it mean to come to Jesus honestly instead of trying to make myself worthy first?

4. How am I responding to the grace God has shown me in Jesus? Am I trusting Him, or only thinking about taking that step someday? If I have chosen to follow Him, what might it look like to profess my faith openly and live it out this week?