God is Salvation 11/01/26

Jonah 1: ___ - Jonah 2: ___

God's _____ can reach us before we

have _____ _____ _____ .

You can _____ on Him from _____ you _____ .

Ephesians 2: ___ - ___

We receive salvation as a _____ ,

never as an _____ .

Acts 4: ___

Being grateful for _____ and being willing to

_____ are connected, but we can _____ to bring them together.

The mercy we _____ must shape the mercy we are willing to _____ .

_____

_____

_____

_____

_____

_____

_____

God is Salvation 11/01/26

Jonah 1: ___ - Jonah 2: ___

God's _____ can reach us before we

have _____ _____ _____ .

You can _____ on Him from _____ you _____ .

Ephesians 2: ___ - ___

We receive salvation as a _____ ,

never as an _____ .

Acts 4: ___

Being grateful for _____ and being willing to

_____ are connected, but we can _____ to

bring them together.

The mercy we _____ must shape the mercy we are willing to _____ .

_____

_____

_____

_____

_____

_____

_____

NOTES:

Reflection during the week…

1. Where am I still trying to earn what God offers as a gift? Have I been waiting to get my life together before coming to Jesus, or comparing myself with others to measure where I stand? What would it look like to trust His grace and come to Him honestly this week?

2. What do I need to bring to God before I know how it will turn out? Am I carrying grief, uncertainty, or questions I have struggled to put into words? How might I begin an honest prayer from where I am and recognize reasons to trust Him while I wait?

3. Am I asking God to change my circumstances while resisting a change in me? Is there an attitude, habit, or act of disobedience I still need to face? What is one step I can take this week that moves beyond relief from my situation toward obedience to God?

4. Who have I quietly decided is beyond God's mercy? Have I allowed someone's choices, beliefs, or past to keep me from praying for them or showing Christ's love? Remembering God's patience with me, what might faithful love require of me this week?

NOTES:

Reflection during the week…

1. Where am I still trying to earn what God offers as a gift? Have I been waiting to get my life together before coming to Jesus, or comparing myself with others to measure where I stand? What would it look like to trust His grace and come to Him honestly this week?

2. What do I need to bring to God before I know how it will turn out? Am I carrying grief, uncertainty, or questions I have struggled to put into words? How might I begin an honest prayer from where I am and recognize reasons to trust Him while I wait?

3. Am I asking God to change my circumstances while resisting a change in me? Is there an attitude, habit, or act of disobedience I still need to face? What is one step I can take this week that moves beyond relief from my situation toward obedience to God?

4. Who have I quietly decided is beyond God's mercy? Have I allowed someone's choices, beliefs, or past to keep me from praying for them or showing Christ's love? Remembering God's patience with me, what might faithful love require of me this week?