God is Unfair 11/08/26

What happens to your faith when _____ does not produce the _____ you _____ ?

Jonah 4: ___ - ___

Surely God will bring this about the way _____ .

Then the answer is _____ .

The strength of my _____ does not settle whether

my _____ is _____ .

The outcome may still be _____ .

Your _____ step still _____ .

Luke 22: ___ - ___

Jonah _____ because God's decision

has _____ him.

Jesus _____ Himself to the Father as He faces the

_____ through which we will be _____ .

1 Corinthians 11: ___ - ___

_____

_____

_____

_____

_____

God is Unfair 11/08/26

What happens to your faith when _____ does not produce the _____ you _____ ?

Jonah 4: ___ - ___

Surely God will bring this about the way _____ .

Then the answer is _____ .

The strength of my _____ does not settle whether

my _____ is _____ .

The outcome may still be _____ .

Your _____ step still _____ .

Luke 22: ___ - ___

Jonah _____ because God's decision

has _____ him.

Jesus _____ Himself to the Father as He faces the

_____ through which we will be _____ .

1 Corinthians 11: ___ - ___

_____

_____

_____

_____

_____

NOTES:

Reflection during the week…

1. Where have I mistaken my preferred outcome for a promise God made? Have I assumed that being faithful would lead to a particular answer, then felt God was unfair when things turned out differently? What expectation do I need to bring honestly before Him this week?

2. What might God be asking me to examine in my response to disappointment? Have I become so certain that I am right that I have stopped listening to Him? Where might I need to reconsider my judgment, confess resentment, or allow Him to challenge an attitude I have been defending?

3. Where am I waiting for a guaranteed outcome before I obey God? Is there a step He has already made clear that I have delayed because I cannot control what happens next? What would it look like to take that step this week and entrust the result to Him?

4. How can remembering Jesus help me trust God with what I do not understand? What hurt or unanswered question do I need to bring to the Father? As I remember Christ's sacrifice and love for me, how might I begin to pray, "Not my will, but Yours be done"?

NOTES:

Reflection during the week…

1. Where have I mistaken my preferred outcome for a promise God made? Have I assumed that being faithful would lead to a particular answer, then felt God was unfair when things turned out differently? What expectation do I need to bring honestly before Him this week?

2. What might God be asking me to examine in my response to disappointment? Have I become so certain that I am right that I have stopped listening to Him? Where might I need to reconsider my judgment, confess resentment, or allow Him to challenge an attitude I have been defending?

3. Where am I waiting for a guaranteed outcome before I obey God? Is there a step He has already made clear that I have delayed because I cannot control what happens next? What would it look like to take that step this week and entrust the result to Him?

4. How can remembering Jesus help me trust God with what I do not understand? What hurt or unanswered question do I need to bring to the Father? As I remember Christ's sacrifice and love for me, how might I begin to pray, "Not my will, but Yours be done"?