Three escalating stages of response from the Presbytery Leadership toward anyone who fails to take boundary training. As you said in the meeting, It is important to think about all of the possible situations and establish relative consequences.

Stage 1: Failure to maintain updated Boundary Training (after effort is taken to make the individual aware of the need for updated training.)

CRE: No renewal of contract, no Pulpit Supply List

Active Clergy: No Release to other Presbyteries and a Letter of Notice ot their ministry (i.e. church, Hospital, etc...)

Retired Clergy: No Contracts renewed, no pulpit supply list and request to refrain from committee work

Candidate and Inquirers: No movement through the process. This is assuming that those under care will be required to be up to date with boundary training inorder to be inquirers.

Ruling Elder: No nominations to committees, request to refrain from committee work until boundary training is up to date.

Stage 2: Refusal to take Boundary Training either intentionally or by inaction over the course of 12 months. Maybe a warning letter before action is taken?

CRE: Censure

Active Clergy: Censure

Retired Clergy: No Active Role in Presbytery or in local PCUSA church

Candidate and Inquirer: Begin discernment of removing them from the ordination process.

Ruling Elder: No nominations to committees, no committee work

Stage 3: This would be a formal action that maybe provided by the upcoming GA overtures. This stage would be reached if person in question is in stage 2 for 12 months. I would image consequences would include removal from ministry, rebuke and banning from Presbytery Committee work.
