

Cory Tiede, MBA
Chief Transformation Officer

As Chief Transformation Officer at Children’s Healthcare of Atlanta, Cory leads major strategy and change initiatives across the organization. He works closely with the executive team to design, plan, and deliver complex projects and system-wide integrations. Before joining Children’s, Cory spent time at Deloitte Consulting and Intercontinental Hotels Group, where he built a strong foundation in strategy, transformation, and operational improvement. He’s known for turning big-picture ideas into clear, actionable plans and making sure stakeholders are aligned and equipped to navigate change successfully. With experience in both strategy development and change management, Cory brings a practical, people-focused approach to tackling tough challenges and delivering meaningful results.

During his leisure moments, he finds solace in running around Grant Park, tending to his garden, and cherishing quality time spent with his wife, Carolyn, and their two daughters.