

Philip Atoyebi, MD, MPH, MBA, FACHE

Corporate Director, Quality Strategy and Operations,
Emory Healthcare

Philip Atoyebi, is a faith-driven healthcare executive whose leadership is anchored in compassion, gratitude, and a relentless commitment to service. As Corporate Director of Quality Strategy and Operations at Emory Healthcare, he leads enterprise-wide initiatives that align quality improvement with strategic goals, value-based care, and regulatory excellence.

With a background in clinical care and advanced degrees in public health and business administration, Philip builds scalable quality infrastructure, leads continuous improvement education systemwide, and partners across clinical and operational leaders to advance patient safety and equity. He is a champion of inclusive leadership, a mentor to emerging leaders, and an active contributor to national healthcare discussions through the American College of Healthcare Executives (ACHE).

Philip holds an MD from the University of Ibadan, an MPH from West Chester University of Pennsylvania, and an MBA from the University of Georgia. He is a Fellow of the American College of Healthcare Executives, an ACHE Executive Program Scholar and holds multiple credentials in healthcare quality, regulatory compliance, and process improvement, including Certified Professional in Healthcare Quality (CPHQ), Certified Joint Commission Professional (CJCP), and Lean Six Sigma Green Belt from the Institute of Industrial and Systems Engineers.
