

Ron Saintvil Bio

Ron is a Master of Healthcare Administration candidate at the University of Georgia and an AI Solutions Associate at Scale Street, where he leads Ambient AI implementations in Emergency Departments across multiple health systems. With hands-on experience supporting 150+ providers through technology adoption, his work focuses on change management, innovation strategy, and the operational realities of deploying AI in fast-paced clinical settings. Ron is committed to advancing healthcare through practical, scalable AI and innovative solutions.