

Michelle Tillis, MBA, BSN, RN,
Chief Nursing Informatics Officer and Vice President of Information Services & Technology, Children's Healthcare of Atlanta

Michelle Tillis, MBA, BSN, RN is Chief Nursing Informatics Officer and Vice President of Information Services & Technology at Children's Healthcare of Atlanta. At the intersection of healthcare, technology, and clinical practice, Michelle focuses on how artificial intelligence, and emerging technologies can transform care delivery and the healthcare workforce.

She is actively involved in advancing AI strategy across clinical and enterprise platforms, including establishing approaches for evaluating, governing, and scaling new AI capabilities. Her perspective is grounded in her background as a registered nurse and her experience leading large-scale technology transformation. Michelle is particularly passionate about ensuring innovation solves meaningful problems, integrates into clinical workflows, supports clinicians, and ultimately improves the experience of patients and families.