

Bonnie Matthews, MSN, RN, PCCN
Principal Clinical Consultant

Bonnie Matthews, MSN, RN, PCCN, has been a Registered Nurse for 21 years and is a founding partner of COR consultants. COR is a clinical consulting firm that specializes in strategic planning, clinical optimization, and training solutions. She has consulted for a variety of organizations including healthcare technology companies, public health agencies, and secondary school health science programs. Bonnie has expertise in project management, process improvement, and adult education.

Bonnie graduated with a BSN from Georgia Baptist College of Nursing and received her Master's in Nursing Education from Duke University. She transitioned from cardiac critical care to focus on system level strategic planning and clinical optimization and spent much of her career immersed in education in her role as a professional development specialist. For nearly a decade, Bonnie was clinical faculty in a health science nursing program, where she cultivated her expertise in training and education. She believes in servant leadership, leading annual medical mission trips abroad and serving on the Advisory Board of an international non-profit organization.

Over the past six years in her role as a principal consultant Bonnie has developed training programs, created standard operating procedures, and written policy and procedures for healthcare organizations across the country. Her years of clinical and training expertise are what make her a valued member of the consulting team.
