

Dr. Jennifer Williams
Corporate Director of Diversity, Inclusion, and Engagement
Phoebe Putney Health System

Dr. Jennifer Williams is the Corporate Director of Diversity, Inclusion, and Engagement at Phoebe Putney Health System in southwest Georgia. Dr. Williams has dedicated her professional career to developing high-achieving teams in both the non-profit and government agency sectors. She's passionate about creating opportunities for individuals to use their strengths to contribute to organizational goals, and she is a staunch advocate for the creation of diverse, equitable, and inclusive workplace cultures.

Throughout her 26-year career, she has developed, implemented, and facilitated training programs designed to support and empower people from all walks of life. Dr. Williams is a bridge-builder and believes in the value of diversity of thought.

She holds a PhD in Policy & Administration with a concentration in Management and Leadership from Walden University. She earned a Master's in Public Administration from Troy University and completed her undergrad degree in English at Clark University.