

CIS2360 PRACTICAL

Week 15

Questions

1. Implement the simple blog application that was presented in the lectures. Obviously, you'll need to ensure that your underlying database table has some sample blog entries!
2. Expand this blog application by adding in a layout method to the EntryView class. This method should define the usual HTML wrapper code. Ensure that your layout method is used within your EntryView index and show methods.
3. How would you go about adding in edit and update actions (and so be able to update blog entries) to this simple blog application?