“Angels” Lesson

Greetings friends. I hope you enjoy this tablature arrangement for the classic Christmas hymn “Angels We Have Heard on High / Gloria In Excelsis Deo”.

The studio recording of this song, along with 2 others from “A Christmas Guitar Celebration” are available as a FREE download here, please enjoy!

http://www.adamrafferty.com/downloads/christmas_sampler.zip

I have had the idea that I wanted to do a Christmas CD for years. Part of the challenge with arranging any Christmas song is to make the arrangement into a little gem, not merely a reading down of the tune.

(For information on how to get the CD, visit AdamRafferty.com)

The jewel of this arrangement is getting the harplike sound of all the last passages. It is deliberately fingered in such a way that notes are always on a different string to get that “ringing sound”.

Very important! Due to the big stretches, I play this CAPO'D at the 5th fret. I have shown you how to play it with no capo. When you put the capo on the 5th fret it will be easier. So, if the tab here says 3rd fret - that would be the 8th fret if you are capo'd up. The higher you go, the smaller the frets and easier stretches.

Note on the recording, I wanted more music so the song would last longer. The way I solved that was to play the melody with no accompaniment up front, like an acapella singer. The arrangement you see here starts at 35 secs on the recording. So there was a “stripped” down stating of the tune up front. I used harmonics wherever possible.

I leave that to you to figure out. It's very easy if you get the tabs here together first, then go back and play the simple melody up front. I'll tab out the first part eventually...just been busy!!!!

Don't worry - that last chorus is not so easy. My suggestion - PRACTICE SLOW SLOW SLOW. Enjoy, and hope you can get this ready for Christmas!!!

- Adam

“Thank you so much for all the help you have given me this year and all the years before. You are the greatest. I have been gigging more than ever lately (jazz gigs), and my playing wouldn’t be nearly what it is without the all the things you have taught me. I look forward to learning more in the future and enjoying a wonderful friendship as well. .

Take care, - Kurt “

“Adam, just got my DVDman..its so much fun..thanks for making it and arranging this wonderful music!. I have bought stuff from Adam before in the past and he always has a great approach to teaching. Some can play and can't teach, some can teach and can't play...Adam definitely can do both and makes it fun!”

“I just bought DVD for my son and he is learning guitar for about 3 years. He just completed his middle school concert and played one of this songs with the band. When I saw this I immediately decided to give him an opportunity to learn from masters like you. Hope he enjoys it. - Srini”

“Adam, I started to learn superstition with the existing 2 youtube lessons and acquire the hammer technique but I'm eager to learn more. I will definitely order you DVD as soon as it is available. Thanks so much, you rock ~ Gerald”

“I'm SO excited! I FINALLY orderd the DVD three days ago. Since I'm only 13, I can't exactly order it my self. It took 2 weeks of begging and chores for my mom to finally agree to get it for me. I've already figured out the bass part and I'm ready to learn more! =] Thanks alot Adam!”

"Adam,

Just got the video today, and just finished watching it all the way through. Fantastic!! I can't get over how good it is! Very professional look, polished, easy to follow, etc.. It really inspired me to pick up the guitar and play along.

The close-up on the hands and inset of picking is great, and makes it all very easy to follow. I watched while you spoon fed the lines to me and it worked perfectly. No problem keeping up with what was happening. Has that relaxed feel like you are there in the same room.

It is really cool the way you play the lines with different feels. The ad lib stuff (here's something Wes would do, how to play 3/4, etc.) was great. I could go on and on, but the bottom line is this a really great video!!!

This is as good as any video in my collection, if not the best. I can't wait to start really working on these lines. I have a gig tonight, and feel really inspired to play, and try to apply these lines and the feel. I would absolutely recommend this video to friends. Thanks so much - I'll get a lot of use out of it. Like I said before, can't wait to spend so more time working through the material. Thanks, -Kurt"

How You Can Develop Virtuoso Picking Technique Quickly and Easily...

Have you been wanting to improve your guitar technique but just didn't know how to go about it?

Do you find yourself "digging in" too hard and getting stuck in the middle of fast passages?

Do you ever feel unsure of the proper fingerings that enable you to execute a musical idea?

Well, jazz guitarist Adam Rafferty has completely solved these problems for you along with many others encountered by most guitarists playing today.

Your Problem is Solved...

Adam's amazing new manual called "How to Develop Virtuoso Single Line Technique for Jazz Guitar" with exercises and diagrams including complete fingerings will provide you with a daily 15 minute routine enabling you to develop a "touch" that will have you gliding through lightning fast solo passages easier than you could ever imagine!

And what's more this easy to follow, step by step approach is so simple that even a child could do it!

"Dear Adam,

With the time I spent working on Exercise one, it has already paid off. I have been going through the Hanon exercises and working on just playing at fast tempos.

I am seeing some excellent progress in my playing. Last Saturday night I played a gig with my regular top 40 (oldies top 40) band and not only did I feel that I was more relaxed on the up tempos pieces but that my playing in general was more relaxed.

Speed wasn't an issue that night.

If I had been the only one to notice it would have been good but the whole band really commented. The Bass player, who is very critical, commented that it was like I was 'On Fire'.

I know that I will keep it up and it will really pay off. I work a 50 hour a week job and have a family so I get in a little over an hour a day on average practicing and this is now part of my routine."

You’ll get loads of personal insights throughout the course
You’ll get solid practice techniques - so that you can get the most out of even a short practice session
You’ll get a full-blown explanation of when to use notes outside the harmony vs. notes inside the harmony in creating solo lines
You’ll get “absorbtion techniques” which “force” you ears, eyes, fingers and brain to absorb new harmonic material - at warp speed!

“Adam, Thank you for another great workshop and an AWESOME new Book on how to ‘create single lines that outline chord changes’!

I really admire your abilities not only as a guitar player but as a teacher. You just get to the guys. You seem to have no insecurities about any of it and you are so encouraging.

I’ve been working on the new book and can already see something happening. My Dad, who was a great piano player, told me before he died “really, everything you need is in here.” Of course I never understood how to get piano concepts onto the guitar.

It is so great that you put it together in a usable form for guitar guys. I think you are really on to something. Thank you for unlocking some new, awesome territory for me. You are the best Adam, thank you.

Your faithful student,
Lewis”

Gratitude

Crescent Ridge Publishing (2008)

Let me just start out my review with the following statement: Any artist who can take two absurdly overplayed (on the radio) songs like “Sir Duke” and “I Wish”(both penned by Stevie Wonder) and not just reinvigorate them but make me want to play them over and over gets an automatic “A” in my grade book. You have to be ultra-talented to freshen up THOSE two songs. On his album Gratitude, Adam Rafferty manages this feat with just his lone acoustic guitar. Here’s a disc already in the running for best acoustic instrumental offering of 2008. Man, this is a tasty recording, yessiree Bob! As Rachel Ray might opine, “Yummalicious!”

Blending six originals with the aforementioned two Wonder covers, as well as songs by Dr. Lonnie Smith, two Beatle covers, the Bill Withers’ staple “Ain’t No Sunshine,” and two more Stevie Wonder numbers, Rafferty cruises through the fourteen cuts with absurd self-assuredness, displaying so much talent and so many playing techniques that I’m embarrassed to say I’ve never heard of the guy until now. I call myself a music reviewer – ha!

Speaking of the various cover songs, Rafferty OWNS these puppies! His “Ain’t No Sunshine” flat out CUTS Withers’ version...it’s bluesy yet plaintive and evocative in a soft somber way. Lennon and McCartney’s “She’s Leaving Home” takes on a whole new life with Rafferty’s folksy rendition, as he strips away the Beatles’ arrangement and reduces the song’s melody to just his gently yet adroitly plucked and strummed guitar. And don’t even get me started on how in the hell this man can take a song like Stevie Wonder’s “Superstition” and with just his guitar render it as a smokin’ slice of jazzy funk.

Now we come to his original tunes. “Simplicity” opens the album with a spot on blend of somber new age-istic melodic textures and mood with sprightly fingerstyle playing. “Machine Gun” (no, he didn’t cover The Commodores’ big hit, but I’ll bet he could’ve!) catches fire almost immediately with blazing picking and fingering as well as dramatic bursts of rhythm guitar chords. This guy’s fingers can fly, folks, yet never once did it sound pretentious or show-offy. Uh uh! He just flat out likes to play like a madman!

Anyone who has read my reviews knows how much I like laid back rural-esque acoustic guitar tunes, custom-tailored as a soundtrack for traversing back country highways in my Midwestern travels. Rafferty also excels with those kind of numbers such as the sprightly yet subdued treatment he gives Wonders’ “Overjoyed,” the gentle rolling melody of “America” (comparing favorably with Ken Bonfield) or the somber mixture of blues and folk on the mournful “Jill’s Song” (featuring a heart-rending refrain). Mr. Rafferty can also get down to bidness as he does aplenty on the deliciously toe-tapping “Vitamin E Blues” or his cover of Dr. Lonnie Smith’s “Play It Back” which is enhanced by the addition of some neat scat-meets-George Benson-ish vocalizings as well as some of the artist’s most technically startling finger and fret work. If this song doesn’t make you want to get down and party with this guy, you better check your pulse - or just retreat to a cave.

If I sound giddy with excitement it’s because I am. It’s just a stone solid kick to have an album drop into my hands from a heretofore unknown (to me) artist and discover someone so damn talented. No doubt I’m late to the “Adam Rafferty kicks ass” party and for that I’m truly sorry, but at least I got here. Lastly, if you can read the artist’s heartfelt liner notes about the origins of this album and remain untouched, well, you must be the kind of person who also thinks “Ah, it’s just another sunset.” Gratitude is one of the best acoustic guitar albums I’ve heard in a long time and that statement takes a lot of CDs into account. When I play it, I'm grateful to be alive and I can't think of higher praise than that. Obviously, highly recommended!

Greetings Fellow Guitar Player!

It gives me great pleasure and joy to teach you the guitar and musical concepts and secrets I have learned over the years.

I have been very lucky to have the opportunity to study and play with some of the greatest musicians on the planet, from classical music to blues to jazz, and I look forward to passing as much on to you as I can.

Two things that my great teachers taught me are that 1) there are no shortcuts, but 2) it's easy when you get the right information!

I made a "pact" with myself anytime I'd feel the "elation and delight" of unraveling musical mysteries, that I'd pass the knowledge on as best I can. This is the process of how music and learning evolve. Each generation builds on the information from the previous one and this continually raises the standard of excellence.

I also made a pact that I'd be a teacher (for you) that the "proof would be in the pudding". I.E. - you'd want to learn from me because you actually love the music you hear come out of my fingers!

No matter what anyone's level of talent is, we all need teachers and people who have seen things we haven't, and basically "been around the block" more than we ourselves have.

Your excellence matters to me. Your level of joy and creativity matters to me. Your happiness matters to me! And I thank you for entrusting me to share my knowledge with you.

I am here to coach you, teach you, kick your butt and show you how excellent you can be. Feel free to call or email me anytime for lessons, coaching, questions or just to say "Hi!" As well, if you have any questions about any of my online lessons or guitar educational products, call me.

I am here to help YOU realize your true excellence on the guitar, in music and in life!

With Warmest Regards,

Adam Rafferty
