Geisinger

Because every person makes a difference in healthcare.

Though May 11 to May 17 is officially National Hospital Week, health happens outside hospitals, too. So at Geisinger, we call it Healthcare Week.

Join us in recognizing our dedicated clinical teams, along with our administrative professionals, maintenance staff, technicians, therapists, volunteers — because every person in every department is involved in promoting our communities' health and well-being.

As we observe Healthcare Week, let's honor the heart of the healthcare community. Because we're all part of making better health easier for everyone.
