The problem

Indoor Air Quality (IAQ) is an ever rising issue in the hotels business. Having a direct impact on both your guests and staff comfort and health, it is your legal responsibility to ensure safety at all times.

Hotel rooms, specifically, need particular care: airborne contaminants may be left behind by previous guests, or linger in the air due to harsh cleaning products or undetected molds. More than ever, requests for allergy and asthma friendly lodgings have risen, setting the need for costly IAQ assessments and analysis.
