

Laura Schultes is an attorney at RSH Legal where she primarily represents clients in employment matters involving protected class discrimination and harassment, disability accommodations, FMLA rights, and wrongful termination. During her time at the firm, she has also represented clients in workers' compensation, personal injury, and Social Security Disability claims. The topic of her presentation will be an overview of employment law claims.