A Message from our President and CEO

Dear friends,

We accomplished something in 2016 that has been a focus of the National Law Enforcement Officers Memorial Fund for two decades: we secured the necessary financing and began construction of the National Law Enforcement Museum in Washington, DC!

The determined efforts of a vast network of supporters, volunteers, and staff made this long-held dream a reality. In late January, we closed on the sale of municipal bonds, which supplemented our $60 million in fundraising and allowed us to begin construction in April. By December, excavation was completed, and the Museum opening is planned for the fall of 2018.

Another major milestone in 2016 occurred when former Attorney General of the United States, John Ashcroft, accepted our invitation to serve as the Memorial Fund's chairman. He brings great stature to our organization and is devoted to our mission.

We also celebrated the 25th anniversary of the National Law Enforcement Officers Memorial, which was dedicated on October 15, 1991. This Memorial was built thanks to the generosity and support of more than a million caring individuals and organizations. It is truly a gift of appreciation from a grateful nation to all who have served and sacrificed, and to the families of the fallen.

The Memorial Fund is at the dawn of a new era and I am thrilled and honored to lead our incredible team of professionals and volunteers at this pivotal moment. In the years to come, we will tell the story of American law enforcement in impactful and innovative ways, and we will continue to be an important voice in promoting officer safety, as well as public safety.

Your support makes all of this possible and I want to express my deepest thanks and appreciation.

CRAIG W. FLOYD
President and CEO

ON AVERAGE, A LAW ENFORCEMENT OFFICER IS KILLED IN

THAT'S AN AVERAGE OF 144 OFFICERS KILLED EACH YEAR.

Our Mission and Vision

Our Mission:

To tell the story of American law enforcement and make it safer for those who serve

Our Vision:

To inspire all citizens to value law enforcement

Our Longevity:

Founded in 1984 and proudly serving the nation for more than 30 years

Our Work

HONORING FALLEN LAW ENFORCEMENT OFFICERS

Throughout the year, and especially during National Police Week each May, the Memorial Fund coordinates events that honor fallen officers and their surviving families. New names are engraved on the Memorial each April, and formally dedicated on May 13 during the annual Candlelight Vigil. In addition, many other events are held at the Memorial during National Police Week and throughout the year, including wreathlaying ceremonies, group tours, and other events that honor fallen officers.

INCREASING PUBLIC SUPPORT

The significant sacrifices and contributions our officers make will be saluted when the National Law Enforcement Museum opens directly across the street from the Memorial. The Museum will be an institution that will tell the story of law enforcement in America through exhibits, collections, research, education, and online content. In the meantime, the Museum operates “without walls,” creating public programming and events designed to educate the public about law enforcement tactics and practices.

PROMOTING OFFICER SAFETY

The Memorial Fund serves as a national clearinghouse for information and statistics on law enforcement line-of-duty deaths, maintaining a comprehensive database detailing the circumstances of these fatalities and publishing Fatality Reports that identify trends and factors related to officer fatalities. Memorial Fund staff make safety presentations at law enforcement conferences and expos, design and disseminate collateral to convey current safety tactics.

Museum Construction Commenced

On January 28, the Memorial Fund announced that it successfully secured tax-exempt bond financing, underwritten by HJ Sims, to build the first national museum to tell the story of American law enforcement.

The National Law Enforcement Museum, a 57,000-square-foot building that will be largely underground, was authorized by Congress and will be built in historic Judiciary Square in Washington, DC, adjacent to the National Law Enforcement Officers Memorial.

The site was closed and preparations for excavation began on April 16. With site excavation completed in December, work centered on bringing the Museum back up to ground level. A tower crane was placed near the center of the site to facilitate moving equipment and materials in and around the construction pit.

The building is expected to be back to ground level in late May or early June 2017 and the Museum is projected to open in the fall of 2018.

This Museum will further the Memorial Fund's mission to tell the story of American law enforcement through its high-tech interactive exhibits, comprehensive collection of artifacts, extensive resources for research, and diverse educational programming.

“I AM HONORED TO SERVE AS CHAIRMAN OF THE BOARD OF THE NATIONAL LAW ENFORCEMENT OFFICERS MEMORIAL FUND, PROVIDING THOUGHT LEADERSHIP AND GOVERNANCE OVERSIGHT AT AN IMPORTANT TIME IN THE ORGANIZATION’S HISTORY.”

- Former U.S. Attorney General John Ashcroft

National Law Enforcement Officers Memorial Fund
RESPECT. HONOR. REMEMBER.

Chairman John Ashcroft

In September, Former U.S. Attorney General John Ashcroft was appointed Chairman of the Board of Directors of the National Law Enforcement Officers Memorial Fund.

Mr. Ashcroft has been a longtime supporter of the Memorial Fund and his leadership will be invaluable as the organization evolves and grows with the construction of the Museum. He served on the Museum's National Honorary Campaign Committee for many years and helped launch the capital campaign—called “A Matter of Honor”—in 2007.

Mr. Ashcroft served as the 79th Attorney General of the United States (2001-2005) under President George W. Bush. Prior to his service as Attorney General, he served as Attorney General of Missouri (1976-1985), Governor of Missouri (1985-1993), and U.S. Senator from Missouri (1995-2001). Since 2005, Mr. Ashcroft has headed up The Ashcroft Group, a strategic consulting firm.

Mr. Ashcroft took over the leadership role from longtime Chairman and founding Chief Executive Officer Craig W. Floyd, who relinquished the chairmanship role in March, and will continue to serve as the organization's President and CEO.

25 Years of Honoring Heroes

When the Memorial was dedicated in 1991, it included the names of 12,664 fallen officers. Twenty-five years later, the Memorial bore the names of 20,789 federal, state, and local officers who made the ultimate sacrifice in service of their communities.

To commemorate this important anniversary, the Memorial Fund chose “25 Years of Honoring Heroes” as our slogan for National Police Week in May of 2016. Every year, National Police Week gives special honor to law enforcement officers who lost their lives in the line of duty. We dedicated the names of the 252 heroes who were added to the Memorial in 2016 and honored the courageous men and women they joined on the walls.

“CARVED ON THESE WALLS IS THE STORY OF AMERICA, OF A CONTINUING QUEST TO PRESERVE BOTH DEMOCRACY AND DECENCY, AND TO PROTECT A NATIONAL TREASURE THAT WE CALL THE AMERICAN DREAM.”

- President George H.W. Bush at the groundbreaking ceremony on October 15, 1991

Traditionally, our Candlelight Vigil has been held at the Memorial, but an unprecedented level of interest in the event and the commencement of Museum construction moved the ceremony to the National Mall, where each fallen officer’s name was read aloud. Speakers, dignitaries and musicians honored the service and sacrifices made by law enforcement officers, as well as their friends and families.

An estimated 30,000 people attended the Candlelight Vigil, and tens of thousands more watched a live video of the ceremony provided by the Memorial Fund through a partnership with Officer.com.

U.S. Attorney General Loretta Lynch shared remarks, and led the lighting of candles and reading of fallen officers’ names during the 28th annual Candlelight Vigil. Department of Homeland Security Secretary Jeh Johnson and National President of Concerns of Police Survivors Madeline Neumann also spoke at this annual tribute to officers who have died in the line of duty—a special part of the National Police Week observance in the nation’s capital.

Police Unity Tour

During National Police Week, more than 2,000 cyclists, motor patrols, and support personnel made their way to the National Law Enforcement Officers Memorial after raising $2,500,000 for the Memorial Fund in 2016.

Starting in 1997, with just 18 members, the Police Unity Tour has grown into a dedicated organization of thousands of law enforcement officers and their supporters who endure long rides from around the country to the Memorial each year.

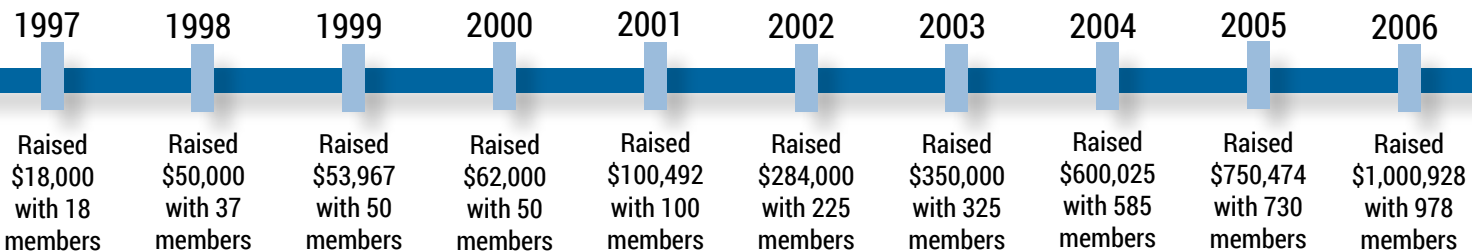

Their unfailing support has helped the Memorial Fund maintain the site and engrave new names of the fallen every year, in addition to expanding programs like the Officer of the Month Award.

Tribute Campaigns

In 2016, the Memorial Fund continued our partnership with Clear Channel Outdoor and iHeartMedia to raise awareness of our nation's fallen officers. The campaign included officer tributes shown on digital billboards and bus shelter displays across the nation. Also included were displays informing viewers about the 28th Annual Candlelight Vigil and encouraging them to light a virtual candle.

iHeartMedia radio stations ran public service announcements (PSAs) informing listeners about National Police Week, the Candlelight Vigil, and the United By Light campaign.

The campaign kicked-off with a press conference in Times Square with many dignitaries, agency representatives, and family members of many of the fallen officers from the New York (NY) Police Department.

Law Enforcement Appreciation

The Memorial Fund continued to partner with professional sports organizations throughout the country and extended its mission beyond the marble walls of the Memorial by reaching out to law enforcement supporters in their communities. These events provided a special partnership that recognized local law enforcement and educated the general public about our mission.

Many events included local law enforcement officers who participated in pre-game ceremonies, such as an Honor Guard's presentation of colors or a performance of the National Anthem. Throughout the events, public service announcements and videos were featured on scoreboards and other displays in and around each facility. Law Enforcement Appreciation Events could not be successful without the support of local law enforcement organizations and our many volunteer Ambassadors and Guardians.

Promoting Officer Safety

We launched our Destination Zero program in 2014, in partnership with the Department of Justice Bureau of Justice Assistance. In just three years, we have communicated with more than 1,000 departments to identify and recognize innovative, effective officer safety and wellness programs. The frameworks and resources of the extraordinary winners and finalists of our Destination Zero awards are available at www.DestinationZero.org.

In 2016, we recognized the work of these departments:

FAIRFAX COUNTY (VA)
POLICE DEPARTMENT

General Officer Safety
Award Winner

HILLSBOROUGH (NC)
POLICE DEPARTMENT

Officer Traffic Safety
Award Winner

SAN DIEGO (CA)
POLICE DEPARTMENT

Officer Wellness
Award Winner

NEW YORK (NY)
POLICE DEPARTMENT

Comprehensive Safety
Award Winner

Grants and programs

The Department of Justice's VALOR program and the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration have teamed up with the Memorial Fund for the promotion of officer safety training sessions, as well as specially-designed social media posts aimed at law enforcement officers.

Museum Educational Programs

The National Law Enforcement Museum continued to grow and expand its education program in 2016. The purpose and goal of these efforts is to build mutual respect and foster greater cooperation between law enforcement and the community, while raising awareness of the organization and laying the groundwork to attract school-age visitors to the Museum once construction is completed.

The Museum's education programs will provide programming that is not only educational but fun and entertaining! Along with learning about the content, these programs will provide the necessary tools for students to develop core skills in critical thinking, problem solving, decision making, and literacy.

Student Projects

These programs will focus on three areas that will help tell the story of American law enforcement: history, forensics, and civics. For example, the National Law Enforcement Museum's forensic program aims to educate K-12 students about the realities of law enforcement and forensic science. The Museum created programs on different topics in forensics such as fingerprints, impressions, pathology, cyber crimes, and more. These programs were brought into classrooms as traveling programs and will be taught to visiting school groups when the Museum opens.

THE "RUN THE CITY" PROGRAM ALLOWS STUDENTS TO EXPERIENCE THE CHALLENGE OF MAKING IMPORTANT DECISIONS ABOUT HOW LAW ENFORCEMENT IS UTILIZED.

The National Law Enforcement Museum continued to spread the word through outreach at community events and conferences. These events included Boys and Girls Club meetings, YMCA events, and the fourth Science and Engineering Festival in DC, where we fingerprinted almost 600 kids.

Witness to History & Conversations on Law Enforcement

The Witness to History series focuses on significant events in law enforcement history, conveyed through the insights of those who witnessed them. In April, we welcomed members of the Arellano Félix Organization Task Force to speak about their involvement with the Drug Enforcement Administration's longest open drug cartel case: Operation Shadow Game. In October, we brought together veterans of the O.J. Simpson case to discuss the investigation and trial that grabbed the attention of a nation.

The Conversations on Law Enforcement series explores contemporary issues and strengthens the relationship between law enforcement and the communities they serve. In February, we welcomed retired Philadelphia Police Commissioner Charles H. Ramsey, who served as a co-chair of the President's Task Force on 21st Century Policing, to discuss his perspectives on the future of law enforcement.

Officer of the Month Award

Our Officer of the Month Award program recognizes law enforcement heroes who distinguish themselves through exemplary service, heroic actions, and devotion to duty. Every year, we honor these officers at our Annual Awards Dinner in Washington, DC, during National Police Week.

In 2016, we expanded the program to send our staff across the country to meet these officers and announce their selection with local ceremonies which were widely attended and covered by local media outlets.

Using Your Investments Wisely

The charts below illustrate a breakdown of our 2016 financial information, demonstrating the operating efficiency of the National Law Enforcement Officers Memorial Fund.

Groups and individuals often look at the financial information when making judgments about a non-profit organization. It should be noted that the Memorial Fund is currently conducting a capital campaign to build the National Law Enforcement Museum. Funds raised for the National Law Enforcement Museum must be put in a separate account to be used only for that purpose.
