Ken's Comments

Glenda Cavender was such a wonderful woman. At her passing last week, Kenneth and Glenda were married for 67 years. What a wonderful example for every husband and wife to follow! We thank God that "The righteous hath hope in death," and for that "far better place." I want to express my deepest sympathy to Kenneth, Keith, Jeff, Larry and all the Cavender family. Glenda left a legacy that will continue to live in her wonderful family for many generations to come. Hannah and I love the Cavender's dearly and ask God's special blessings to be with them.

It was such a blessing to get to preach Sunday. Seeing your wonderful smiling and encouraging faces was what I really needed. When I left the building Sunday I felt like a different person. The love we share is a life boat in the midst of the storm. I cherish the fact that I have the privilege to be your preacher. Always, remember how much Hannah and I love you!

We had a large number of visitors at services Sunday. The good Lord is smiling on our congregation. Ken and Jonah have really been doing a great job helping me out with the sermons and my Bible classes. I have been able to listen to most of Ken's adult Bible classes. His deep and diligent study is obvious in each one of his classes. I thought Jonah really did a good job with the sermon Sunday night. I am so thankful for these two fine men! I see so much excitement in our youth program. Keep up the great work, Jonah.

Keep praying for as many people as you can each day. Your prayers mean more than you will ever realize. Especially pray for our older members!

Practical ways to show respect:

1. Thanking someone for their help.
2. Saying please when asking for something.
3. Not interrupting someone when they are speaking.
4. Keep a secret.
5. Letting someone go in front of you in traffic.
6. Avoiding inappropriate language.
7. Waiting your turn.
8. Welcoming newcomers.
9. Respecting other's property.
10. Address others with respect; for example, sir and ma'am.

I want to congratulate Lane Robertson and Kayla on their marriage Saturday. I want to wish them the very best in life!

I look forward to another great Sunday with you. I thank God for you!
