

Think about becoming a Financial Fitness COACH!

People in your community are drowning in a sea of debt.
You don't have to be an accountant or financial planner to help them.
It's about a relationship.
It's about offering practical help.
It's about offering hope where there seems to be none.
It's about walking through the journey together - decision by decision.
It's about sharing life while teaching biblical principles.

You would make a GREAT coach, if you have...

- A desire to serve God –first!
- Wisdom enough to know that asking the right questions is more important than knowing all the answers.
- Discernment as to when to talk and when to stay quiet and listen.
- An ability to speak the truth, in Love!
- Good personal and household financial stewardship.
- Godly Patience & Common Sense
- An ability to discern and inspire others forward.
- Live with head and heart knowledge of God's provision in all areas of life
