The Introduction to the Sacral Center

The Sacral Center is really extraordinary. It has been the subject of hundreds and hundreds of hours of teaching. It is, after all, the very center of the lifeforce. When we're looking at the Sacral Center, the first thing we're looking at is that it is a very powerful fundamental motor that drives the nature of being.

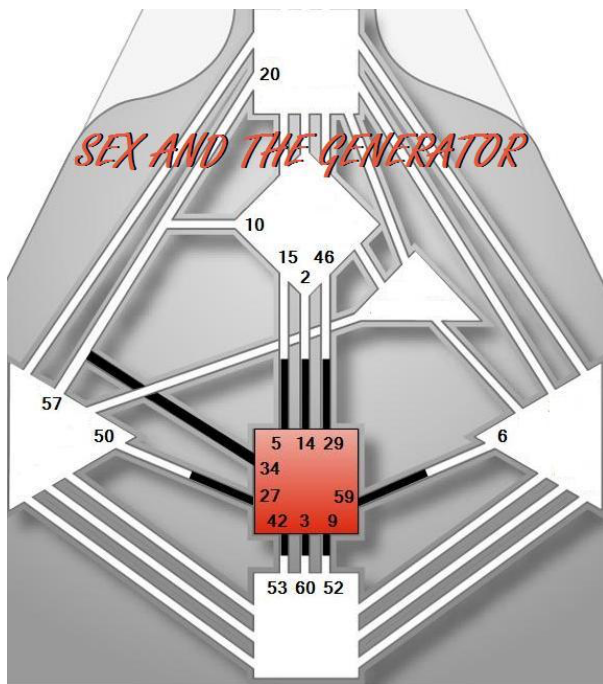

It is the Sacral Center that literally generates life itself. The moment that we're talking about Generators, we are only really talking about their Sacral Center. It is the very core, the very essence of what they are.

Now, according to the Human Design Global Survey that's available from the free resource area, you can see that approximately 67% of humanity are Generators. That's an extraordinary chunk. After all, it represents that nearly 4 billion people on the planet are Generators.

Generators Generate Life

One of the things to really be clear about is that the very world that we live in, the way in which we feel about the nature of the world we live in, the quality of the world that we live in—that in fact, we can lay almost all of that at the feet of Generators, because they're the ones literally that generate life.

If you look at the Center itself and the nine Gates of the Center, you are looking at these fundamental archetypal forces that drive all together the nature of being. When you look at all the other Types in Human Design — Reflectors, Projectors, and Manifestors — what they have in common is that they are non-Sacral. They are not part of the force that determines the nature of being. They're very much dependent on it. They're very much caught in what is generated by the world's billions of Generators.

Think about the world that we live in. We live in a world in which manifesting is the ideology of humanity. It is the ideology of humanity to manifest, to make things happen, to do things, to initiate, to chase after. From the very beginning of my work in Human Design, I felt if only I could transform Generators everything would be transformed. And I thought, how easy that was going to be. It was going to be so easy because all Generators had to do was simply respond, and everything would be perfect.

Well, the joke was on me—not a great joke. The not-self, the way in which open Centers manipulate the way in which we think, see, and make decisions in the Maya have distorted the potential of the Generator. And that the conditioning is so deep that so many Generators who enter into a meeting with Human Design can find it so difficult just to release themselves from this illusion that doing is what matters rather than responding.

The Strategy of the Generator: Respond

Everything about life can be summed up in the Strategy of the Generator, and the Strategy of the Generator is: Respond. If we're going to talk about the sexuality of the Generator, and we're going to deal with the way in which the Generator can meet the other, if we do not begin with response and the very core of what it is to be a Generator, well, you're not going to have success in the way in which you interact at an intimate level with anyone.

This is the whole thing about being a Generator. Oh yes, I'm going to take you through some very interesting details, and I will give you some practical direction about being a Generator and sexuality in your life. But all of it in the end is determined by whether you are going to respond or not. Everything
