The Way of the Generator

Being an Aries, I love doing things the first time. It's always a thrill for me; I always enjoy it. This is something I've looked forward to doing for a very long time.

To Be Awake Is Normal

If my process had been different, and all those things are just illusions anyway, but if my process had been different and I had been like you, a student of Human Design, I probably would have dedicated the rest of my process to working only with Generators. It's basically my inclination almost all the time, and for very practical reasons—I'm a very practical man—I know that to be awake is a state that is supposed to be normal. I know it's not special. I know that it's something that each and every one of us has a right to and that we are all capable of.

And I realize the way in which the program works and the way in which life has evolved on this planet, that there is no better potential to be able to make that transformation but through Generators. For me, Generators are truly—and I use this word carefully—they're very holy beings for me. They're like mysteries inside of an egg. You don't what you crack out, but you know at any moment they can shatter the illusion that's around them and they can be transformed.

Generators Can Be Transformed at Any Moment

And being a Manifestor and being somebody who likes to see things happen, I can wait a long time for all kinds of people. But Generators, there is always a part of me that knows that at any moment they can be transformed. These are not beings that have to wait seven years to be awake. They truly can be awake in 20 minutes. It's simply a matter of the shattering that goes around them.

So, for me, the Generator has an enormous potential to transform the world. My joke about slaves and Generators, I know it so well. I know Generators so well. It is my wisdom to know Generators better than anything else. I know them deeply; I know what works in them.

What is clear to me is that there is magic for them in this life that nobody else gets to participate in. It is this magic of transformation and truth that nobody else can have. There is nothing like being a Generator because Generators have access to the truth in the moment for them. And that is something that is truly unique. It is something that is a tool for awakening and gives them the capacity to remain awake because they have a place within them that will never confuse them, that will never lie to them. It's a remarkable thing.

“Responsability”

So, these two days, I'm going to take you through another way of looking at what it is to be a Generator in a way that I can only do in a group that is only Generators. This two-day program is going to be divided up into two things: It's going to be divided up in today which is about “responsability.” This is the nature of the Sacral Center. It has the ability to respond, but it has nine different kinds of ability to respond and each of them means something very different in terms of what the relative truth is for that Generator.

The Secret Binaries

Tomorrow I'm going to work with you with the secret binaries, because Sacrals cannot wake up alone. They're not here to wake up alone. The most dangerous thing of all for a Generator is to try to wake up alone. It is a desperate, painful, horrible experience and can be deeply scarring to them. Generators are not here to be alone.

So, that will be tomorrow's stuff. Today we're going to look at some technical things about what it's like, what it really means to be a Generator.

Three Quarters with Generator Gates

When you look at this illustration, there is something to notice. Those of you that have had a background in Incarnation Crosses know that the Wheel is divided up into four Quarters. You will notice that there is Sacral activation,
