

COLOR ME | STRIDING LION

Hi! I am the museum's 1,600-year-old pet lion. It's great to meet you. What a long journey—I came from a lost city in present day Turkey that was buried under ground for a long time. Thankfully, archaeologists found me and brought me to the BMA. The original artists made me from tiny squares of colored stones and included some of my friends, favorite fruits, and flowers in the squares around my body.

You can color me in using crayons, color pencils, pens, or markers. Get creative. Make up your own design or follow the design in the photo.

Learn more about The Striding Lion at artbma.org/atg_stridinglion.

ARTBMA.ORG

Striding Lion. 5th century A.D. Sector 10-Q, Daphne, Antioch, Syria (present-day Turkey). The Baltimore Museum of Art: Antioch Subscription Fund, BMA 1937.139