FACULTY

Cheryl DeConde Johnson, EdD, provides consulting services regarding educational audiology and deaf education focusing on state service delivery and accountability systems through her practice, The ADEvantage. She also holds adjunct faculty appointments in audiology at the University of Colorado and the University of Northern Colorado and in deaf education at the University of Arizona. From 1997–2006, she was the statewide consultant for audiology and deaf education with the Colorado Department of Education and prior to that held positions as a school-based educational audiologist, an early intervention provider, and a coordinator of the Greeley, Colorado, public school program serving deaf and hard of hearing students. Johnson is co-author of the Educational Audiology Handbook, 2nd ed. (2012, Cengage Delmar Learning) and Educational Advocacy for Student who are Deaf or Hard of Hearing (2013, Hands & Voices), as well as numerous articles and book chapters. Johnson has been a persistent advocate for effective communication access in the classroom for learners who are deaf and hard of hearing and others with auditory deficits, as well as the use of hearing assistance technologies.

Financial Disclosures:
- Financial compensation from ASHA for this presentation

Nonfinancial Disclosures:
- Member of the Educational Audiology Association and chair of its advocacy committee

Jane Seaton, MS, CCC-A/SLP, has worked in a variety of settings, including hospitals, universities, state agencies, and schools. After leaving her job as an educational audiologist with an intermediate agency, she decided to devote her professional energies to serving families and infants with hearing loss. Seaton's belief has always been that this is the area of greatest impact for improving outcomes for students with hearing challenges, and newborn hearing screening has given these children greater opportunities for success than ever before.

Financial Disclosures:
- Financial compensation from ASHA for this presentation
- Contractor for Georgia PINES (Parent Infant Network of Educational Services)
- Royalties from Cengage Delmar Learning

Nonfinancial Disclosures:
- Georgia EHDI stakeholder
- Georgia Pathway to Language and Literacy project partner
- Member of AAA, AGBell Association, ASHA, EAA, and Hands & Voices

Donna Fisher Smiley, PhD, CCC-A, is an educational audiologist and the coordinator for the Educational Audiology/Speech Pathology Resources for Schools (EARS) Program at Arkansas Children's Hospital. Smiley has practiced audiology in the areas of pediatrics and school-based audiology for 25 years. She has provided professional development related to school-based audiology services as well as conducted research in the area. Additionally, she co-authored a textbook, School-Based Audiology. She served as the Vice President for Audiology Practice on the ASHA Board of Directors from 2013–2015. Smiley received a BS degree in communication disorders from Professional Issues in Educational Audiology Service Delivery

Henderson State University, an MS degree in audiology from the University of Arkansas for Medical Sciences, and a PhD in hearing science from the University of Tennessee, Knoxville.

Financial Disclosures:
- Financial compensation from ASHA for this presentation
- Royalties from Plural Publishing

Nonfinancial Disclosures:
- Past ASHA Board of Directors member
- Planning committee for the online conference “Audiology 2016: Collaborative Strategies for Students With Hearing Loss”