FACULTY

Craig Coleman, MA, CCC-SLP, BCS-F, is an assistant professor at Marshall University and a Board Certified Specialist in Fluency Disorders. Coleman is currently serving as coordinator of ASHA Special Interest Group 4 (Fluency and Fluency Disorders) and as a member of the ASHA ad hoc committee to revise the scope of practice in speech-language pathology. Coleman is an adjunct instructor at Indiana University of Pennsylvania and co-director of the Stuttering U summer program for children who stutter, their families, and SLPs.

Financial Disclosures
- Financial compensation from ASHA for this presentation
- Co-director of Stuttering U
- Employee of Marshall University
- Stuttering Therapy Resources (OASES)

Nonfinancial Disclosures
- ASHA SIG 4 coordinator