Family-Guided Routines-Based Intervention and Coaching in Early Intervention

INTRODUCTION

This webinar highlights the integration of adult learning and family-centered principles as the foundation for organizing a home visit that supports family decision-making, participation, and parent-provider partnership in early intervention. Family-guided routines-based intervention incorporates a flexible framework for home visiting that includes four components: setting the stage, observation and opportunities to embed, problem-solving and planning, and reflection and review. Within each component, SLPs can incorporate coaching strategies to support the caregiver in embedding communication intervention within the child’s everyday routines and activities.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

You will be able to:

- identify four family-centered, adult learning principles that support caregiver engagement and active participation during early intervention home visits
- discuss how practices such as observation, problem-solving, and reflection can build caregiver confidence and engagement and be integrated throughout the home visit by using a systematic coaching approach
- list and describe three evidence-based coaching strategies that build the family’s capacity to embed intervention throughout daily routines and activities
