FACULTY

Ellen Stubbe Kester, PhD, CCC-SLP, is the founder of Bilinguistics, a company created to address the communication needs of children and adults from multicultural populations. In addition to her role at Bilinguistics, she teaches courses on assessment and language development in the Department of Communication Sciences and Disorders at the University of Texas at Austin.

Financial Disclosures

- Financial compensation from ASHA for this presentation
- Ownership rights of Bilinguistics, which receives royalties for some of the products that will be mentioned during the webinar

Nonfinancial Disclosures

- No nonfinancial relationships to the content of this presentation