FACULTY

JoAnn Wiechmann, EdD, CCC-SLP, has spent her career working in the public school setting. She worked with students on campuses in Texas and Oklahoma for 12 years prior to moving into administration. Since 2002, Wiechmann has served as a district administrator, coordinating speech services as well as other special education services. She currently is the executive director of special education in Grapevine-Colleyville Independent School District in the Dallas area. She has held a variety of positions with the Texas Speech-Language-Hearing Association. Currently, she is the chair of the ASHA School Issues Advisory Board, chair of the ASHA SIG 16 Professional Development Committee, and a member of the ASHA SIG 16 Coordinating Committee.

Financial Disclosures:
- Financial compensation from ASHA for this presentation

Nonfinancial Disclosures:
- ASHA SIG 16 Professional Development Manager
- ASHA School Issues Advisory Board Chair
- Texas Speech-Language-Hearing Association Ethical Practices Task Force member

Judy Rudebusch, EdD, CCC-SLP, holds a doctorate in education administration and has recently completed a 35-year career in public education as an SLP, supervisor of the speech and language program in a large urban school district, special education director, federal programs director, division director for state and federal categorical programs, and, most recently, assistant superintendent for student services and federal programs in a mid-urban district in north Texas. She is currently an education consultant specializing in school-related issues in quality services in speech-language pathology.

Financial Disclosures:
- Financial compensation from ASHA for this presentation

Nonfinancial Disclosures:
- ASHA Board of Directors member
- Texas Speech-Language-Hearing Association President