FACULTY

Vicki A. Reed, EdD, CCC-SLP, BCS-CL, is an emeritus professor who has many years of experience teaching and researching in the area of child and adolescent language development and disorders at the graduate and undergraduate levels. She was on the faculty in the Department of Communication Disorders at the University of Northern Colorado when she accepted a position involving a move to Australia to head the speech-language pathology program at The University Sydney. She returned to the U.S. after 17 years to head the Department of Communication Sciences and Disorders at James Madison University, where she subsequently returned to full-time teaching. Reed is an ASHA Fellow and Board Certified Specialist in Child Language and has numerous publications and presentations in the area of child and adolescent language.

Financial Disclosures

- Faculty member of and salary from James Madison University
- Consulting fees from Kansas University Center for Research on Learning and Virginia Department of Education
- Financial compensation from ASHA for this presentation

Nonfinancial Disclosures

- None