DISCLOSURES

Financial Disclosures
Nancy Brady reports that the work was funded by a grant from Autism Speaks. Paige Bushnell reports that she was employed as an SLP by the University of Kansas to work on this project. Holly L. Storkel, R. Michael Barker, Kate Saunders, Debby Daniels, and Kandace Fleming report no financial relationships to the content of this article.

Nonfinancial Disclosures
Nancy C. Brady, Holly L. Storkel, Paige Bushnell, R. Michael Barker, Kate Saunders, Debby Daniels, and Kandace Fleming report no nonfinancial relationships to the content of this article.

Financial Disclosures
Howard Goldstein and Elizabeth Kelly will receive royalties as authors of the Story Friends curriculum. Charles Greenwood, Luke McCune, Judith Carta, Jane Atwater, Gabriela Guerrero, Tanya McCarthy, Naomi Schneider, and Trina Spencer report no financial relationships to the content of this article.

Nonfinancial Disclosures
Howard Goldstein, Elizabeth Kelley, Charles Greenwood, Luke McCune, Judith Carta, Jane Atwater, Gabriela Guerrero, Tanya McCarthy, Naomi Schneider, and Trina Spencer report no nonfinancial relationships to the content of this article.

Financial Disclosures
Samantha L. Ricks and Mary Alt report no financial relationships to the content of this article.

Nonfinancial Disclosures
Samantha L. Ricks and Mary Alt report no nonfinancial relationships to the content of this article.

Vocabulary Instruction on Sesame Street: A Content Analysis of the Word on the Street Initiative, by Anne L. Larson and Naomi L. Rahn, published in Language, Speech, and Hearing Services in Schools

ASHA Self-Study 2971
Financial Disclosures
Anne L. Larson and Naomi L. Rahn report no financial relationships to the content of this article.

Nonfinancial Disclosures
Anne L. Larson and Naomi L. Rahn report no nonfinancial relationships to the content of this article.