DISCLOSURES

Laryngeal Movement Disorders and Their Management
Thomas Murry
Department of Otolaryngology-Head and Neck Surgery, Loma Linda University Voice and Swallowing Center, Loma Linda University
Loma Linda, CA
Claudio F. Milstein
Learner School of Medicine, Cleveland Clinic, The Voice Center, Cleveland Clinic,
Head and Neck

Disclosures:
Financial: Thomas Murry and Claudio F. Milstein have no relevant financial interests to disclose.
Nonfinancial: This paper is based on the presentation of Thomas Murry and Claudio F. Milstein at the 2015 Convention of the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association.

Underlying Mechanisms in Episodic Laryngeal Breathing Disorders
Adrianna C. Shembel
School of Health and Rehabilitation Sciences, University of Pittsburgh
Pittsburgh, PA

Disclosure:
Financial: Adrianna C. Shembel has no relevant financial interests to disclose.
Nonfinancial: Adrianna C. Shembel has no relevant nonfinancial interests to disclose.

The Relationship Between Voice and Breathing in the Assessment and Treatment of Voice Disorders
Ali Lewandowski
Amanda I. Gillespie
Department of Otolaryngology, University of Pittsburgh Voice Center,
University of Pittsburgh Medical Center
Pittsburgh, PA

Disclosures:
Financial: Ali Lewandowski and Amanda I. Gillespie have no relevant financial interests to disclose.
Nonfinancial: Ali Lewandowski and Amanda I. Gillespie have no relevant nonfinancial interests to disclose.

The Limited Resource View of Self-regulation: Implications for Vocal Behavior Change
Lisa A. Vinney
Department of Communication Sciences and Disorders, Illinois State University
Normal, IL

Disclosures:
Financial: Lisa A. Vinney has no relevant financial interests to disclose.
Nonfinancial: Lisa A. Vinney has no relevant nonfinancial interests to disclose.