DISCLOSURES

Interprofessional Practice and Education Supports Tinnitus Management
Marc Fagelson
Department of Audiology and Speech-Language Pathology, East Tennessee State University
Johnson City, TN
James H. Quillen Mountain Home Veterans Affairs Medical Center
Mountain Home, TN

Disclosures
Financial: Marc Fagelson is Director of Audiology, Assistant Chair, and Professor in the Department of Audiology and Speech Language Pathology at East Tennessee State University, and a Consultant at the James H. Quillen Mountain Home VAMC.
Nonfinancial: Marc Fagelson has previously published in this subject area. Some of these works are referenced in this piece.

Emotional Processing and Non-Auditory Based Interventions in Tinnitus
Fatima T. Husain
Yihsin Tai
Megan K. Finnegan
Department of Speech and Hearing Science, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign
Champaign, IL

Disclosures
Financial: Fatima T. Husain is an associate professor at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign. Yihsin Tai and Megan K. Finnegan have no relevant financial interests to disclose.
Nonfinancial: Fatima T. Husain has previously published in this subject area, some of those works are cited in this manuscript. Yihsin Tai and Megan K. Finnegan have no relevant nonfinancial interests to disclose.

Care Path for Patients With Tinnitus: An Interprofessional Collaborative Model
Craig W. Newman
Sharon A. Sandridge
Head and Neck Institute, Cleveland Clinic
Cleveland, OH

Disclosures
Financial: Craig W. Newman is the Section Head of Allied Hearing, Speech, and Balance Services in the Head and Neck Institute at the Cleveland Clinic. Sharon A. Sandridge is the Director of Audiology Clinical Services in the Head and Neck Institute at the Cleveland Clinic. This medical center is referenced in the paper.
Nonfinancial: Craig W. Newman and Sharon A. Sandridge have previously published in this subject area. Some of these works are referenced in this paper.

Clinical Presentation of Tinnitus and a Review of, and Evidence Base for, Tinnitus Applications
Kim Wise
Elaine Ma
Department of Communication Disorders, The University of Canterbury
Christchurch, South Island, New Zealand

Disclosures
Financial: Kim Wise is a lecturer at the University of Canterbury. Elaine Ma has no relevant financial interests to disclose.
Nonfinancial: Kim Wise has previously published in this subject area. Elaine Ma has no relevant nonfinancial interests to disclose.