Speech, Language, and Hearing Careers: Recruiting Students From Diverse Populations

Monica Bellon-Harn
Department of Speech and Hearing Science, Lamar University
Beaumont, TX
Rebecca K. Weinbaum
Department of Counseling and Special Populations, Lamar University
Beaumont, TX

Financial: This work was supported in whole or in part by a grant from the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board (THECB). The opinions and conclusions expressed in this document are those of the authors and do not necessarily represent the opinions or policy of the THECB.

Nonfinancial: Portions of this paper have previously been presented at the Council of Academic Programs in Communication Disorders Conventions 2016, San Antonio, TX and the annual convention of the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association, Denver, CO.

Bridging the Divide With SoTL: Connecting Knowledge With Best Practice in Communication Disorders

Joseph Klein
Department of Communication Sciences and Disorders, Appalachian State University, Boone, NC

Dawn C. Botts
Department of Communication Sciences and Disorders, Appalachian State University, Boone, NC

Financial: Jennifer C. Dalton, Joseph Klein, and Dawn C. Botts have no relevant financial interests to disclose.

Nonfinancial: Data from the research study aspects of the SoTL example were presented at the 2015 ASHA Convention in Denver, CO. No emphasis was placed on the use of SoTL to design graduate study at that time.

Building Creative and Collaborative Toolkits for Graduate Student Funding Pursuits in CSD

Javad Anjum
Ohio University
Athens, OH

Naveen Nagaraj
Department of Medical Sciences, University of Little Rock, AR

Financial: Javad Anjum and Naveen Nagaraj have no relevant financial interests to disclose.

Nonfinancial: Portions of this information were previously presented at the annual conference of Council of Academic Programs in Communication Sciences and Disorders (CAPCSD), Newport Beach, CA.

Technology Training in Speech-Language Pathology: A Focus on Tablets and Apps

Jeffrey Edwards
Elena Dukhovny
California State University, East Bay
Hayward, CA

Financial: This project was funded by a grant obtained by the author from the Center for Student Research when a graduate student at California State University, East Bay. At the time of this study, Jeffrey Edwards was receiving an hourly salary in his position as Coordinator for the Assistive Technology Lab in the Norma S. and Ray R. Rees Speech, Language, and Hearing Clinic. Elena Dukhovny receives a full-time salary as an Assistant Professor in the Department of Communicative Sciences and Disorders at California State University, East Bay. She also serves as the faculty director for the Assistive Technology Lab in the Norma S. and Ray R. Rees Speech, Language, and Hearing Clinic.

Nonfinancial: Jeffrey Edwards and Elena Dukhovny have no relevant nonfinancial interests to disclose.
Viability of Online Learning for Ensuring Basic Skills in Speech-Language Pathology

Hannah Krimm
Melanie C. Schuele
Hearing and Speech Sciences, Vanderbilt University
Nashville, TN
Cynthia Brame
Center for Teaching, Vanderbilt University
Nashville, TN

Disclosures

Financial: This study was supported by ED H325D140087 and the Vanderbilt CTSA grant UL1 RR024975 from NCRR/NIH. Module development was supported by NSF DUE-1231286. The content is solely the responsibility of the authors and does not necessarily reflect the views of the US Department of Education, National Institutes of Health, or National Science Foundation.

Nonfinancial: The data were reported in an oral presentation at the 2016 Council of Academic Programs in Communication Sciences & Disorders (CAPCSD) annual meeting, San Antonio, TX and in poster presentations at the 2015 Gerald S. Gotterer Health Professions Education Day, Nashville, TN and Vanderbilt Kennedy Center Science Day, Nashville, TN.