DISCLOSURES

Alternative Access for Adults Who Rely on Augmentative and Alternative Communication
Susan Koch Fager
Communication Center of Excellence, Institute for Rehabilitation Science and Engineering, Madonna Rehabilitation Hospitals, Lincoln, NE

Disclosures:
Financial: This article was developed, in part, under a grant from the National Institute on Disability, Independent Living, and Rehabilitation Research (NIDILRR Grant 90RE5017-02-01)
Nonfinancial: Portions of this data were previously presented at the 2016 annual convention of the Rehabilitation Engineering Society of North America/National Coalition for Assistive and Rehab Technology and the 2016 annual convention of the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association.

Brain–Computer Interfaces for Augmentative and Alternative Communication: Separating the Reality From the Hype
Jane E. Huggins
University of Michigan Department of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation, Ann Arbor
University of Michigan Department of Biomedical Engineering, Ann Arbor
University of Michigan Neuroscience Graduate Program, Ann Arbor
Thomas Kovacs
University of Pittsburgh Department of Communication Science & Disorders, PA

Disclosures:
Financial: Jane E. Huggins has no relevant financial interests to disclose. Thomas Kovacs has no relevant financial interests to disclose.
Nonfinancial: Jane E. Huggins has no relevant nonfinancial interests to disclose. Thomas Kovacs has no relevant nonfinancial interests to disclose.

Szu-Han Kay Chen
Communication Disorders and Sciences, State University of New York at Fredonia, Fredonia, New York
Michael O'Leary
ICAN Talk Clinic of the AAC Institute, Carnegie, PA

Disclosures:
Financial: Szu-Han Kay Chen has no relevant financial interests to disclose. Michael O'Leary has no relevant financial interests to disclose.
Nonfinancial: Szu-Han Kay Chen has no relevant nonfinancial interests to disclose. Michael O'Leary has no relevant nonfinancial interests to disclose.

Stepping Stones to Switch Access
Linda Burkhart
Eldersburg, MD

Disclosures:
Financial: Linda Burkhart owns a small home business and authors books and software activities that utilize many of the principles in this article. Every effort was made to include a full range of vendors and products when describing the Stepping Stones to switch access process.
Nonfinancial: Linda Burkhart has presented, and continues to present, on various concepts related to the topics covered in this manuscript at numerous national and international conferences since 1982. She has written and self-published books and software activities that are also related to this topic. She has also voluntarily consulted with vendors about features needed to include in products that are accessed via switch scanning.