The Changing Landscape of Vocal Needs in the Aging Baby Boomer
Edie R. Hapner
Caruso Department of Otolaryngology Head and Neck Surgery, USC Voice Center
Los Angeles, CA

Disclosures
Financial: Edie R. Hapner has no relevant financial interests to disclose.
Nonfinancial: This is a descriptive paper and, as such, information in this paper has been part of previous presentations that Edie Hapner has done on aging voice.

Dual Task, Noise, and The Speech-Language Pathologist: A Clinical Guideline for Adult Multi-Tasking Intervention With Noise
Jennine Harvey
Scott Seeman
Communication Sciences and Disorders, Illinois State University
Normal IL
Deborah von Hapsburg

Disclosures
Financial: Jennine Harvey, Scott Seeman, and Deborah von Hapsburg have no relevant financial interests to disclose.
Nonfinancial: The experimental data discussed was presented at the American Speech-Language Hearing Association National Convention, the American Auditory Society, and the Aging and Speech Communication conference.

Generational Considerations for Counseling Older Adults
Amanda Stead
School of Communication Sciences and Disorders, Pacific University
Forest Grove, OR
Michael Flahive
Alexandria, Virginia
Caitlin Fitzgerald
Marcia Frost

Disclosures
Financial: Amanda Stead, Michael Flahive, Caitlin Fitzgerald, and Marcia Frost have no relevant financial interests to disclose.
Nonfinancial: Amanda Stead, Michael Flahive, Caitlin Fitzgerald, and Marcia Frost have no relevant nonfinancial interests to disclose.