DISCLOSURES

Telepractice in University Au.D. Programs: Survey of Program Directors
Nichelle J. Wilson
Brenda C. Seal

Financial:
Nichelle J. Wilson conducted this research in satisfying her Au.D. capstone project at Gallaudet University. Brenda C. Seal served as faculty chair of the research. Results were presented at the American Speech-Language Hearing Association Annual Conference in Orlando, Florida in November 2014 and at the Speech and Hearing Association of Virginia’s Annual Conference in March 2014.

Nonfinancial:
The authors have no nonfinancial interests related to the content of this article.

Early Hearing Detection and Intervention by Telepractice
Deborah Hayes
Katheryn Boada
Stephanie Coe

Financial:
Deborah Hayes is professor of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation at the University of Colorado School of Medicine and chair of Audiology, Speech Pathology, and Learning Services at Children’s Hospital Colorado. Katheryn Boada is director of Audiology, Speech Pathology and Learning Services at Children’s Hospital Colorado. Stephanie Coe is a clinical coordinator of Audiology, Speech Pathology and Learning Services at Children’s Hospital Colorado.

Nonfinancial:
Deborah Hayes has previously published in the subject area.
Katheryn Boada has no nonfinancial interests related to the content of this article.
Stephanie Coe has no nonfinancial interests related to the content of this article.

An Adapted Assessment Model for Emergent Literacy Conducted via Telepractice
Schea N. Fissel
Pamela R. Mitchell
Robin L. Alvares

Financial:
Schea N. Fissel is a clinical instructor and doctoral student at Kent State University. Pamela R. Mitchell is an associate professor at Kent State University. Robin L. Alvares is an assistant professor at Baldwin Wallace University.

Nonfinancial:
Schea N. Fissel has no nonfinancial interests related to the content of this article.
Pamela R. Mitchell has previously published in the subject area.
Robin L. Alvares has previously published in the subject area.