Installation Guidelines for Fiberglass & Acrylic Fixtures

Our intent at Basco is to ensure that our customers have access to the products they desire based on their style and preferences. As such, please refer to these guidelines for installing heavy glass doors on fiberglass and acrylic substrates.

Structural Support Guidelines

- A Celesta/Roda door on acrylic or fiberglass requires proper blocking to ensure stability.
- A single 2 X 4 stud is needed behind the wall where the header meets the wall on top and bottom pivot units.
- A double 2 X 4 stud is needed behind the wall on the hinge side for wall mount hinges.
- A double 2 X 4 stud is needed at the threshold for hinge mounting and support of the weight.

Precautionary Guidelines

- When the U-Channel or glass clamp is screwed into the threshold, the weight of the glass sits on top of the screws, necessitating the structural support.
- Without proper structural support, when the panel or door is moved this could cause the screws to move slightly. Over time, this slight movement enlarges the hole the screw is in and eventually cracks (spider webs) the gelcoat or acrylic and begins to break down the fiberglass backing.
- Acrylic or fiberglass walls have blocking installed by the manufacturer. However, the location of that backing may not match the location of where holes need to be drilled for vertical u-channel, wall mount hinges, and headers.
- Without proper backing behind the walls the door or panel(s) will eventually slip out of the thin walls.

RODA Product Notes

- Products will be produced using industry best practices and techniques for all hardware, gaps and spacing deductions, horizontal and vertical securing, etc.
- The base and walls for any RODA unit(s) must be constructed with proper wood blocking prior to installation to ensure the weight of the enclosure is properly supported as it may result in product failure. At minimum, 2 x 4 blocking is required at the location of any structural member of the unit including, but not limited to: hinges, clamps, and header brackets. All fasteners at these locations are required to be installed into the blocking. Basco is not liable for cracks on the fiberglass or acrylic modules or product failure of any kind that results from inadequate blocking.
- Depending of the panel size and or door hinge layout, a support bar or header may be required for proper stability.
- Floor to Ceiling panel(s) will be manufactured to be lift and drop when using U-Channel as the horizontal securing method unless noted otherwise.
- Safety tempered glass cannot be cut and is resistant to breakage, but it is susceptible to breakage if improperly handled through unequal pressure or if an unprotected edge comes in contact with any solid surface. Basco is not liable for breakage after installation is completed.
