4-H Hosts Youth Vet Science Series with Local Professionals

LIBERTY, NY—Youth with an interest in veterinary science, between the ages of 13 and 18, can engage in a hands-on Veterinary Science educational opportunity this spring. Cornell Cooperative Extension Sullivan County (CCESC) is offering a three-part 4-H Youth Development program series on Thursdays April 12, 19, and 26 from 6:00 to 7:30 pm. 4-H programs are always open to non-members.

Participants will gain basic industry knowledge of veterinary medicine techniques for college and career readiness. The workshops will take place at the Extension Education Center on 64 Ferndale-Loomis Road in Liberty.

April 12 | Youth Quality Assurance Certification

April 19 | Equine Emergency & First Aid

April 26 | Small Animal & Pet Basic First Aid

This series is $8 per youth or $5 for 4-H members. Any Sullivan County youth ages 5-18 can apply to enroll in 4-H for free, all year long.

Registration with payment is required in advance by visiting www.sullivancee.org, emailing sullivan@cornell.edu, or calling CCESC at 845-292-6180. Payment can be made in advance by check, cash, or credit. In the event of special needs, the public should contact the CCESC office.

Program fees support the cost of instructors, refreshments, materials, and facilities. Additional donations for CCESC programs are appreciated.

Cornell Cooperative Extension's 4-H Youth Development program empowers any youth ages 5-18 to reach their full potential, working and learning in partnership with caring adults. 4-H members have opportunities to connect to Cornell University resources and gain career readiness skills through hands-on activities and "learning by doing".
