

Position Announcement (6/20/18)

Title: 4-H Urban Outreach Educator

Responsibilities: This individual will deliver a community-based 4-H youth development program which focuses on safe, educational, and fun activities within an after-school setting. S/he will manage/facilitate the delivery of youth services that address locally developed priorities. 4-H activities include homework and literacy tutoring, Science, Technology, Engineering, & Math (STEM) recreation and life skills, arts and crafts, multicultural education, and community service projects, among many others. S/he is responsible for providing input to program planning and development and for implementing innovative approaches to reach youth and families and to build community-wide support for children, youth and families. This individual will provide supervision to college students, and interns, and guide volunteers and parents to implement a wide range of hands-on learning activities for youth. This position provides youth with programming after school and will include some night and weekend programming. Planning and office hours are flexible.

Qualifications: Bachelor's Degree plus 4 years transferrable relevant evidence based research experience or a Master's Degree. Ability to motivate, develop and relate to youth and the ability to recruit participants for programs. Ability to organize, implement, and teach informal educational programs.

Minimum Salary: $18.00/hour

Hours/Benefits: Position is part-time (20 hours/week) and includes full benefit package including health and dental insurance, retirement, life insurance and more.

Inquiries: Questions in advance of application should be directed to Megan Tifft, 4-H and Community Development Association Issue Leader, 607-272-2292 or email megan.tifft@cornell.edu.
