Re: Veterinary Science Program

Cornell Cooperative Extension and SUNY Canton are pleased to announce the annual Veterinary Science Program will be offered for youth ages 13-18. This course has been held for over 20 years and course evaluations have indicated that half the participants said they were more likely to pursue an animal science career because of the program.

SUNY Canton Vet Tech students teach the classes with guidance from their professors. Past classes have discussed public health concerns such as rabies, emergency and basic care, radiology and surgery. This year classes will run Thursday evening from 6:30pm-8:00pm February 28th, March 7th, March 21st, March 28th, and April 4th at SUNY Canton. Cost to register is $25. Please contact Maureen Ring at Cornell Cooperative Extension for more information or to register, You can also register online at http://stlawrence.cce.cornell.edu/events/2019/02/28/4-h-veterinary-science-program.

You must return the paperwork along with the completed approved pick-up form and payment BY 4:00PM FEBRUARY 26th to be considered registered. Late registrations cannot be guaranteed a spot and payment must be made in advance (i.e. on or before February 26). Checks can be made payable to Cooperative Extension with Vet Science in the memo. Please contact me with any questions.

Sincerely,

Maureen Ring
