All produce farms are encouraged to complete GAPS training. Understanding Farm Food Safety regardless of buyers' demands is the right thing for growers to do. A Farm Food Safety Plan helps growers follow Good Agricultural Practice whether or not a farm chooses to become certified.

-This course is intended to improve your understanding of GAPS to guide assessment of risks and implementation of practices to reduce risks on fresh produce farms.

-Taking this course will not result in your farm being "GAPs Certified". GAPs certification is done by a third party (e.g. USDA, Primus, Global GAP) and involves the successful completion of an on-farm audit.
