

ATTENTION!

New Yorkers ages 16 and up, teachers for grades pre-K through 12, school staff, childcare workers, customer-facing employees, and anyone with qualifying comorbidities are eligible for the vaccine. Not included in Phase 1b however were farm workers.

COVID-19 vaccines are effective at protecting you from getting sick. Based on what we know about COVID-19 vaccines, people who have been fully vaccinated can start to do some things that they had stopped doing because of the pandemic

While there is the anticipation that all adults will be eligible for vaccines by May 1st, 2021, Cornell Cooperative Extension-Yates County is strongly encouraging all farmers and farm-workers to get vaccinated as soon as possible based on either age eligibility, or have any qualifying comorbidities*.

*Vaccine-eligible Comorbidities

- Cancer
- Chronic Kidney Disease
- Intellectual & Developmental Disabilities
- Heart Conditions
- Immunocompromised State
- Severe Obesity (BMI 40 kg/m²), Obesity (body mass index [BMI] of 30 kg/m² or higher but < 40 kg/m²)
- Pregnancy
- Sickle Cell Disease or Thalassemia
- Type 1 or 2 Diabetes Mellitus
- Cerebrovascular Disease (affects blood vessels and blood supply to the brain)
- Neurological Conditions
- Liver Disease

To see if you are eligible or to find a New York State operated vaccination site, visit <https://on.ny.gov/3fiBj08> or call the New York Office of Health hotline at 1-833-697-4829. For a list county health and regional vaccination sites, please see reverse side of this document. While the vaccination process is underway, it is important that we continue to wear masks, social distance, and avoid small and large gatherings. Even though our work currently demands social distancing, Cornell Cooperative Extension–Yates County is still here by your side.
